Rangers Find 100 Bodies Following Cong Ambush

Infant Dies in Car Mishap at Gardiner

A 27-year-od Newburgh man faces three charges as the result of a fatal accident in a store parking lot of Route 44-55 west of Routs 208 in the Town of Gardiner.

State Police and Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, at the scene, said Jeffery Allen DePuy, four-month-old son of Mrs. Judy DePuy of Hurley, died of a broken neck as the result of the accident.

27 Deaths in State

Mishaps on the highways and in the water accounted for nearly all of the 27 accidental deaths reported in New York State during the weekend, the Associated Press reported.

Fatalities in nearby counties included the drowning of a two-year-old in the Town of Newburgh, and a Teaneck, N. J. woman who was killed in a car-truck mishap on the Thruway near Newburgh.

In the investigation of the Gardiner fatality, Sergeant William Cameron of the Highland substation of State Police, said the infant was sitting in the lap of his aunt, Gertrude Watts, 20, of 23 Millbrook Avenue, Hurley, in a car owned by Mrs. DePuy parked in a lot at Crispell's store about 10 feet off the highway at about 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

The sergeant reported a car driven by John T. Lake, 27, of 62 Liberty Street, Newburgh, was traveling east on Route 44-55 when the vehicle went off the south shoulder and hit guard rails. The car then careened across the highway and traveled about 500 feet out of control, before it entered the parking lot and crashed into the DePuy car.

Car Pushed 50 Feet

According to Sergeant Cameron, the De Puy car was pushed about 50 feet after it was hit by Lake's vehicle. The sergeant said the infant apparently died instantly. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. David Mesches of New Paltz.

The child's aunt was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, by Shawangunk Valley Fire Department ambulance. She suffered multiple lacerations and a cerebral concussion. Lake was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's ambulance. He sustained facial injuries.

Coroner Chipp said he is withholding a verdict pending further investigation and questioning of Lake.

Assisting in the investigation with Sergeant Cameron and Coroner Chipp wer BCI Investigator L. M. Luongo and Troopers Charles Bundschuh and Jerry Henne.

Faces Charges

Sergeant Cameron said Lake faces charges of drunken driving, operating a motor vehicle with unsafe tires and criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle resulting in a death.

The child's death was the 20th

Telephone Co. Continues Survey On Toll Charges

A proposal to eliminate toll charges on calls between Kerhonkson and High Falls is still under consideration by New York Telephone.

"A decision to go ahead with such a plan must be weighted carefully because it would involve an increase in monthly rates for all telephone customers in Kerhonkson," said District Manager Jack Lebherz. It also would involve a significant telephone investment, he said.

"The Company has made extensive surveys of its Kerhonkson customers to determine the kind of service they want.

Survey Inconclusive

"A postcard asking their opinion of the plan was sent to every telephone customer in Kerhonkson last March.

"Results of this survey were inconclusive. Less than half of the people returned the card to us.

"In order to make sure we have an accurate sample of customer opinion, it was necessary then to begin a survey by telephone of many of those who didn't reply to the mail survey.

"A study is being made of the results of these surveys as well as other factors such as community growth."

Labherz said a decision is expected soon.

The plan would add 1,550 telephones to the calling area of Kerhonkson telephone customers. An increase in the monthly charge for local service in Kerhonkson would be necessary, Lebherz explained, to make Kerhonkson rates equal to those paid by New York Telephone customers with local calling area of similar size.

For residence customers the increase would range from 15 cents a monht for a rural line

Congress May Wreck Plans On Adjourning

WASHINGTON (AP) — After more than six months of fairly smooth sailing, Congress is heading into shoal-infested waters that may wreck its plans to adjourn by Labor Day.

Voting rights, union shops, foreign aid, health care for the elderly, minimum wages, closing of some military bases, legislative reapportionment, excise taxes, the antipoverty program and pay raises for military and civilian personnel are among the snags that lie ahead.

Not even one of the dozen annual appropriation bills to finance the government for the fiscal year starting July 1 has been sent to the President, although most of them have cleared the House.

Considers Summer Work

Although publicly voicing confidence that all the necessary legislation can be disposed of by Labor Day, some congressional leaders already are considering a summer recess followed by a fall session. Such a recess is a distinct possibility for the House, which is legislatively in better shape than the Senate.

Two of the major pending bills are on the Senate calendar this week. They are the foreign aid authorization bill and a measure which would cut or repeal emergency excise tax rates. Both have passed the House, but Senate changes will require further House action.

Only one major bill is on the ouse schedule this week. It calls for creation of a Cabinet-level department of housing and urban development.

Another Holdup

The voting rights bill passed by the Senate after a curtailed filibuster has been approved with major changes by the House Judiciary Committee. It probably will be held up several more weeks in the House Rules Committee and is not expected to reach the floor before next month. The threat of another filibuster confronts it when it goes back to the Senate.

A bill to prohibit state laws against union shops has been approved by the House Labor Committee but has not yet been considered by the Senate. It is being held up in the House pending action on separate legislation to protect Negroes' job rights. The whole subject may be dropped until next year.

The health care bill, passed by the House more than two months ago, is bogged down in

New GOP Way To Name Ticket For '66 Voting

The Ulster County Republican "unofficial" convention at which Republican candidates for county office are "recommended" will be held this year. The tentative date is July 17.

After this year the convention system of recommending candidates for county office will be eliminated and that duty will be taken over by the Republican Committeemen who will meet at least 60 days prior to every official Primary Election for the purpose of formulating the Party platform and policies, for the transaction of Party affairs, and to recommend to the enrolled Republican voters of the county candidates for Party nominations and Party positions.

A proposed amendment to the Rules and Regulations of the Ulster County Republican committee which would have eliminated the 1965 "unofficial convention" for the recommendation of Republican candidates for office, was presented at a meeting of the county and city committmen Saturday night held at the court house.

Effective Jan. 1, 1966

Abram F. Molyneaux, supervisor of the town of Woodstock, moved to amend the resolution making the effective date of the change January 1, 1966. The amendment of Molyneaux was adopted.

In offering his amendment, Molyneaux said he did not "believe in changing the rules in the middle of the game."

Molyneaux said the campaign by persons seeking various party noninations for this fall's election has been underway for over four months.

"During all that time we have been operating under existing rules which have been in effect for over 40 years. Every person seeking nomination had the right to assume that this year's nominations would be made in the same way as they always have been", Molyneaux said. He said these candidates had a right to assume that nominations would be made in the usual way at the convention and he said there was no reason for the sudden change just a month before the convention time. He proposed that instead of the change taking effect "immediately" as proposed in the amendment that it become effective January 1, 1966.

It was pointed out that Ulster County was one of a very few upstate counties to retain the "unofficial county convention" system at the present time.

After January 1966 recommendations will be made by the committeemen from towns and wards. This procedure has been recommended by the State Committee.

A number of other recommendations were approved, including the provision for county and city vice-chairmen, a method which has been in existence but not specifically provided for in the rules.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock and former City Chairman Judge John B. Sterly were named delegates from the new 43rd State Senatorial district and Mrs. Rose LeFevre and Hilda Krum were named alternates.

Kerosene Drums Explode, Fire Damage Spreads

A fire said to have started when three small children ignited oil at Mill and Ann Streets Saturday afternoon resulted in the explosion of two kerosene drums, involved gas tanks and damaged several buildings.

It stirred some panic in the neighborhood which resulted in a telephone call at 4:06 p. m. to fire headquarters followed by three box alarms and another sounded later on order of Chief James M. Brett.

Five streams were used in checking the blaze which spread from rubbish at the rear of 11 Mill Street to the three-story brick building at that address which houses the Church of God in Christ on the ground floor and apartments on upper floors.

It also damaged a one-story, brick shed at the rear of 11 Mill Street, and the rear of buildings at 34 and 36 Broadway.

Children Involved

Firemen were told that the children had set fire to oil which had been released from one of the kerosene tanks.

The alarms mobilized all of the city's apparatus. Despite the involvement of oil and gas, the fire was under control within an hour. Deputy Chief Julius E. Buchholtz, assisted Chief Brett in directing operations.

Despite the explosion and quick spread of the fire, no one was reported injured. The Fatum emergency unit was on standby call.

Averted by Woman

Firemen said Mrs. Clarence Jackson, of Ann Street, had spotted the fire at the rear of 11 Mill Street and alerted occupants of the building. The second floor was occupied by Richard Boler, and third floor apartments were occupied by Mrs. Ella Blunt and Peter Cooper.

The building at 34 Broadway is used for storage by the K & S Electric Shop Inc., and that of 36 Broadway is occupied by Dominick's Cleaners.

Firemen said safety valves on

THE FACE OF FEAR—Clutching her child, a Vietnamese woman watches as her husband is carried aboard an evacuation helicopter after Viet Cong guerrillas launched a violent attack on the village of Dong Xoai, 60 miles north of Saigon. While increased fighting spread, the political situation in South Viet Nam remained shaky.

Air Strikes Keep Up Against North

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese rangers combing a rubber plantation just north of the shattered town of Dong Xoai found the bodies of about 100 government troops today, the remains of the 7th Airborne Battalion, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Dong Xoai was reported quiet but braced for more trouble from the Viet Cong.

Find Grim Relics

As the rangers moved through the French-owned Michelin rubber plantation a few miles north of Dong Xoai they found an assortment of grim relics left behind by the Viet Cong, among them the wreckage of a U.S. Army helicopter and a U.S. Army man's identification tag.

U.S. authorities announced "at the request of the Vietnamese government, elements of the 173rd U.S. Airborne Brigade have moved to Phuoc Vinh to protect the airfield and aircraft there."

Phuoc Vinh is the main airfield for the Dong Xoai area. The U.S. paratroopers had been expected to move from there into the Dong Xoai conflict but the Vietnamese commanders were reluctant to ask for them

The Viet Cong mounted a number of attacks and ambushes in various parts of Viet Nam today, all the way from the 17th Parallel to the southern tip of the nation.

Hammers Targets

Ninety American and Vietnamese planes hammered targets in North Viet Nam in a series of separate raids.

Twenty U.S. Air Force jet bombers escorted by 30 other jets attacked the Ban Xom Lom barracks 70 miles southwest of Hanoi. Five buildings were reported destroyed and 10 heavily damaged.

Forty-two planes hit three areas of the Ba Bon army barracks 60 miles north of the demilitarized zone, U.S. spokesmen said.

Heavy air strikes also continued inside South Viet Nam against suspected Viet Cong targets. U.S. Navy and Marine Corps planes were said to have flown 118 sorties Sunday. Pilots claimed heavy damage to targets and suspected troop concentrations.

Six Yanks Killed

Six Americans were killed over the weekend, but none appeared to have died as the result of enemy action.

Four U.S. Army helicopter crewmen were killed Saturday night when their craft crashed 30 miles east of Saigon during a storm.

An explosion aboard a truck at Chu Lai beachhead Sunday killed two U.S. Marines and injured 19 others. The men had been swimming, and a spokesman said a grenade fell from one man's belt, exploded in the bottom of the truck and set off a five-gallon can of gasoline.

Youth Reports $100 Robbery at Station

A robbery, three burglaries and an apparent attempt at burglary were under police probe today.

Barry Miller, 17, of 43 Pine Street, working at the Esso gas station at 1 Boulevard operated by his father, Charles Miller, was held up at 1 p. m. Sunday by a man, who. he said, drove a white or cream colored, 1955 or 1956 Pontiac bearing a New Jersey license plate.

Miller said the man poked a weapon, believed to be a revolver, in his back, and ordered him to hand over his money, at first said to be some $80, but upon later check, the father said was later found to be more than $100.

Ties Him Up

Young Miller said the man had first asked for directions on his trip and staged the holdup when Miller was headed to consult a map. After taking the money, police said, the man tied up Miller and ordered him to stay at the rear of the gas station. He was discovered and released a short time later by an unidentified man who went to the gas station to use the telephone.

Lt. Lemuel Howard, head of the local detective division, said the robber was described as 35 to 40 years old, about six feet tall, with ruddy complexion and brown hear. He wore tan trousers and shirt.

Some $90 in cash was reported taken from the cash register at the Bob Perry gas station at 316 Broadway now operated by

Republicans Look To West Sectors For '66 Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans plan to focus on the Midwest and West next year in a campaign they believe will recoup their 1964 losses in the House and give them three or more additional Senate seats.

President Johnson's failure thus far to come up with a satisfactory farm program has given the GOP hope that it not only can hang on to the seats it now holds in Widwestern and Western states but can make significant gains there.

Morton's View

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, head of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said in an interview that while he is not discounting party chances in any part of the country he believes they are brightest in the Midwest and West.

"As matters stand, I think we are going to get back most of the House seats we lost last

17 Community Agencies to Take Part In Ulster College Work Study Program

Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of Ulster County Community College, said today that a $126,613 grant has been approved for the UCC Work Study Program for this summer and next year and that 17 community agencies will participate in the program.

He said that the college had previously made application for the off-campus and on-campus programs to help students finance their educational careers.

Dr. Lake said that Robert H. Sharpe, coordinator of the Work Study Program at the college, has been working closely with the local non-profit agencies in making plans for their participation in the college program which is designed to stimulate and promote part time employment of college students from low income families.

The local agencies include the Ulster County Extension Service, Jewish Community Center, Kingston Boys Club Inc., Kingston Consolidated Schools, Board of Public Works Engineering Department, City of Kingston Laboratories, Kingston City Library, Kingston Recreation and Parks Department, New Paltz Central School, City Public Works Department, Rondout Valley Central School, Saugerties Central School District, Wallkill Central School, Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services, Ulster County Planning Board, Kingston YMCA and YWCA.

The College Work Study Program is a part of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. The law provides federal grants for student employment programs both on and off campus. The federal government will pay up to 90 per cent of the cost of the program while the participating agency pays the remaining 10 per cent.

The basic objective of the Work Study Program is to enable more qualified students from low income families to attend college without the necessity of incurring an unduly heavy burden of indebtedness which would seriously handicap them in their future career. A low income family is defined as "A family whose total assets and income are such that it cannot reasonably be expected to contribute any significant support to the educational expenses of the prospective student."

Officials at Ulster County Community College indicated that any student within the area served by the college who feels that this Work Study Program would be of help to him should immediately make inquiry at the Community College admissions office to determine both his eligibility for the Work Study Program and his acceptability for full time study at the college.

Students from the 1965 graduating class who have not been considering college are urged to reconsider their plans and to see whether or not this additional source of financial aid might not make it possible for them to attend the local community college. The program of courses is not restricted to those who grad-

AF Aims at Treating Jr. Officers and Men Better

WASINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has embarked on a golden rule program aimed at improving the treatment of junior officers and enlisted men.

The keynote was sounded by Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, who told his commanders: "Our Air Force is a family. Each member should be treated that way."

In a policy letter, McConnell counseled "a good hard look at ourselves and at every aspect of our handling" of these 830,000 officers and men wearing Air Force blue.

"It should be self-understood that we must treat our subordinates in the same way we expect our superiors to treat us," said the top Air Force general enunciating a kind of military golden rule.

"I am convinced that vigorous action to improve the treatment of our personnel will pay tremendous dividends by increasing the attractiveness of service life and will lead to the high-quality force of dedicated professionals which we all recognize we must have," McConnell said.

The four-star Air Force general seemed to be specially concerned about the junior officers entering the Air Force.

"Too many of these young officers are poorly received, poorly treated, inadequately counseled, and somewhat ignored to such a degree as to frustrate their ambitions and void their good intentions," McConnell wrote.

Thus, he directed, commanders at every echelon "will make absolutely certain that they know all of their officers; that each officer has a full-time job commensurate with his abilities; that no young officer stand short on counseling, advice, recognition and personal interest; and that each officer is kept fully informed on career opportunities."

As for men below officer rank, the Air Force said that by and large, re-enlistment "is the result of successful leadership and proper handling of airmen during their first enlistment."

Dear Abby . . .

He Can't Win!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 9 years to the most wonderful girl in the world. Bessie is sweet and quiet and easy to get along with, and we've never had a cross word between us, excepting over this one subject, which is my problem—her mother. Bessie talks to her mother on the telephone at least five times a day. And she sees her at least four times a week. We live in the Bronx and Bessie's mother lives in Canarsie, so you know it's no cinch. They are like a pair of Siamese twins. Bessie wouldn't think of buying a thing unless her mother saw it first, and the same goes for her mother. Bessie has three sisters and two brothers but none of them are as close to their mother as she is. My mother-in-law is really a nice person, and she has a husband for companionship, but he's also in second place like I am. We have no children, which is probably good because I don't know when my wife would find time for them. What can be done in a case like this?

SECOND PLACE

DEAR SECOND: Nothing. Face it, you married a Mamma's girl. A close mother-daughter relationship is to be admired, but this one is sick. However, sick or not, no situation can be changed unless the parties involved want to change it, and apparently your wife and her mother like it this way, so it's up to you to learn to live with it.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me what to do with a husband who keeps the cellar door locked all the time? We've been married for 35 years and he's been this way for the past 15 years. Every time I ask him for the key to the cellar door, he says, "What do you have to go down there for?"

Since when does a woman need a reason, or a pass word to get into her own cellar? He says he has a lot of things down there he doesn't want touched. Like his tools, etc. He keeps everything locked up, including his car, which is in our back yard. He puts all the money he saves into the trunk of his car and locks it up. I tell him that a person who doesn't trust anybody can't be trusted himself. Right? What would you do it he were YOUR husband?

ARDENT READER

DEAR READER: If he were MY husband, I'd take him to a psychiatrist. He sounds more sick than untrustworthy.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Why didn't you tell "Don's Wife"—the woman who was competing with her husband's sports car—to get off her bad back and ride along in the sports car with Don? Her back hurts! So what? It's going to hurt anyway, so she might as well let it hurt while she's with her husband. How many more years does she figure she has with him? And what kind of selfish fool would say, "if I can't go, he shouldn't go either?"

Also, doesn't she know there are plenty of attractive lone women who hope to find a "Don" of their own by buying a sports car and joining a car club? No matter how "old" a man is, if he belnngs to a car club, he's got young ideas.

BEEN THERE

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor is a chiropractor and he told me to thank you for telling people over 60 to quit racing around in those little sports cars. He says he's got more of those patients than he can handle.

AGAIN!
ADDED CUSTOMER SERVICE
BY THE BANK THAT CARES!

Convenient new walk-up window in vestibule of 301 Wall Street, under cover and out of the weather.

The State of New York National Bank now offers customer banking services for a total of 43 hours during the five banking days of each week. And it's a total of 44 hours at some of their branches!

A new walk-up window at the main banking office on Wall Street continues to offer full counter services from 3 until 5 p. m. on each of the first four banking days of the week. On Friday, it opens from 3 to 6:45, the time at which the lobby reopens until 8 p. m. Thus, banking services are available without interruption from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. on Friday and from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on each of the other banking days.

The Albany Avenue Branch maintains the same schedule through a combination of lobby and drive-in window but additionally it is open until 6 p. m. on Monday night. The Kingston Plaza Branch is also open until 6 on Monday and otherwise operates on an identical schedule except for the hours of 5 to 6:45 p. m. on Friday.

The Personal Loan Office at 300 Wall Street remains open without interruption from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. on Friday and from 9 to 5 on the remaining banking days of the week.

Why?

The State of New York National Bank is constantly surveying and analyzing the needs and desires of the community. Whenever a new customer need approaches, they attempt to anticipate it—and they believe longer banking hours are a customer desire. Certainly, such a change means some additional bank costs and expenditures, but if your bank cares—cares enough about your convenience—they'll provide the services you want.

GI Loan Entitlement: Entitlement to a GI loan guarantee on a veterans property may be restored under certain conditions which generally include property taken for public use., destroyed by fire or other natural hazard, or disposed of for other compelling reasons.

Out-patient Treatment: Veterans with non-service connected disabilities who are in receipt of pension based on need of regular aid and attendance, or increased benefits for compensation for need of regular aid and attendance, may receive post-hospital care, without time limitations following a completion of bed occupancy care of not less than one year after hospitalization, for certain conditions

GI Insurance Dividend Option: GI Insurance dividend option, called the "indebtedness option," became available to insured veterans last year. An insured selecting this disposition can have his dividend withheld and set-off against his policy loan or a policy lien

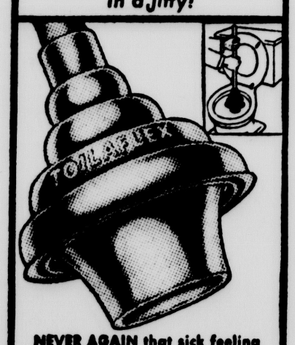

Know Proper Flag Etiquette: If not, a free fact sheet briefly outlining when, where and how to display our flag, is available at this office. Display our flag proudly and properly on Flag Day, June 14th.

Modified Insurance: In addition to re-opening the National Service Life Insurance, the new law allows veterans who hold existing WW II or Korean War type policies to convert to a modified plan. The one year time limit does not apply to this provision. This new plan is an inducement to term policy holders to convert to a lifetime level premium plan before the premiums on renewable term insurance becomes prohibitive with increasing age.

Premium Waivers: Are included in both term and permanent National Service Life Insurance policies. To qualify for the premium waiver, the insured must have an impairment of mind or body which continuously renders it impossible for him to follow any substantially gainful occupations for six or more consecutive months.

Tax Exemtion: All applications for veteran's tax exemption must be filed on or before Grievance Day in the City of Kingston and all townships. This year Grievance Day is Tuesday, June 15, 1965.

This is the time of the year when school students:

1. Get ready for a vacation "fling."
2. Go to summer school.
3. Get a summer job.

On that last note, it's a case of general local incentive with particular national impetus.

For as President Lyndon B. Johnson put it, the "Youth Opportunity Campaign" is underway to stimulate job orders that can be filled by available youth applicants.

And the rest is up to youth—which appears to be responding.

President Johnson recently announced an intersive campaign to stimulate summer work training opportunities for youth in government and private employment. His program urged emeloyers to provide employment opportunities to the school-age youths of the country and to place their orders with the respective state employment services.

Responding Here

According to Anthony C. Hart, manager of the New York State Employment Division of the Labor Department in the Kingston area, youth is responding.

"While it has been the practice of the local office to help youth in being placed in part time jobs during the summer, job seeking and placement among youth since the president's campaign," he said.

His words were echoed by Russell Brock, placement supervisor of the local employment office, who said that there currently was close to 150 young people in the age bracket 16-21 who wanted some type of summer employment, ranging in anything from clerical work to unskilled work.

Last year, Brock said, the local agency placed 13 out of 107 applicants, exclusive of 39 school dropouts — 24 of which were placed.

President Johnson's campaign called for letters which were sent to high schools and colleges requesting them to advise students in search of summer employment to contact their local employment service offices, and for local office managers to follow up with larger employers or to solicit trainee job opportunities with major market employers.

Five High Schools Listed

The five high schools currently participating in the current "Jobs for Youth" program include Kingston High School, Saugerties Central, Onteora Central, Rondout Valley Central and the Academy of St. Ursula.

The process, Brock explains, calls for distribution of survey cards in which the students are asked to indicate their future plans for college or other post-education work. These cards are screened and the ones indicating college-bound students are, of course, eliminated since they are not expected to be on the current labor market.

Tests for 23 Fields

The applicants in turn are given counsel by one of the local State Employment Division's interviewers and qualified applicants return at a later date to take a general aptitude test covering 23 fields of work.

This, of course, is a regular service provided by the local agency at no cost, but can be of more than a passing interest where youth is involved. After the tests are scored, qualified applicants are advised of their results. The tests — which are given from a month to a week before scheduled high school graduations—include proficiency examination for qualified stenographers and typists which provide for the better paying so-called "office jobs." In addition, those who pass the Civil Service tests are automatically placed on the state or county CS lists which make them qualified for appointment to a position under Civil Service jurisdiction.

Brock estimated that of last year's approximately 1,100 high school graduates in the area, about 50 per cent would have entered the labor market.

Evidence of their serviceability is backed up by Brock and local employers who are anxious to place the area's youth-student in a job.

"These kids want to work," Brock said, adding that "It's discouraging when a high school student comes in and you can't place him or her." Brock also stressed that there is also no fee attached to the Employment Division or to a prospective employer as a result of job placement for anyone.

Clerical offices, retail stores and specialized production firms are among those participating with the president's program or who have participated in the past as a matter of policy.

Robert E. Davis, president of the Kingston Knitting Mills, estimated that between 35-40 high school students complement a force of about 400 employes at both the Cornell Street and Port Ewen plants.

Terry Pamenter, personnel manager at Montgomery Ward & Co. said the larger percentage of summer part-time help at that store was from youths.

100 or More Hired

IBM also hires high school and college students for part-time summer work. J. J. Sinnott, employment and plant manager, said the number employed during the summer months varies according to the firm's needs, but as many as a hundred or more have been utilized.

However, he said, their employment helps relieve overtime in many instances. Sinnott described the average youth-student worker as "very conscientious."

Some local manufacturing and industrial firms pointed out that they couldn't hire part-time help due to the nature of the work. For instance, as one plant official said, "By the time we get them properly trained, they're ready to go back to school."

Even so, some of these same plants hire the young worker-student as replacements in clerical, stock and other departments while regular full-time employes take their vacations.

Willingness to Work

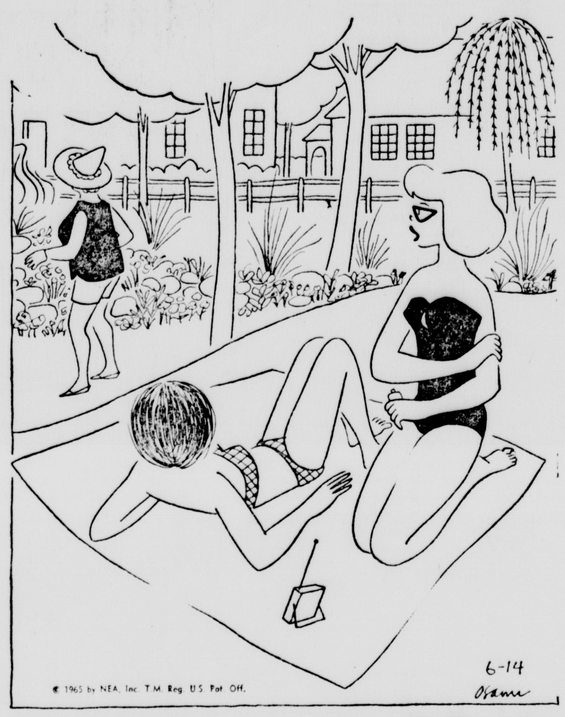

It's unlikely that every student-worker who applies at the local State Employment office will be placed and also unlikely that all who are placed will be doing the exact work that he or she wants.

But in these days where such terms as "school dropouts" and "juvenile deliquency" are consistently on the social scene, it's reassuring to know that youth—while it must be served—is in most instances willing to work for it.

Expensive Dubbing

LONDON (AP) — Twentieth Century Fox says it is spending a half million dollars to dub all the songs in the film version of "The Sound of Music" into four languages. The languages are French, German, Spanish and Italian. In the past, songs in musicals have usually been retained in original language, sometimes with translated subtitles.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What are the bulwarks the government is counting upon to safeguard your personal economy as well as the nation's general one from the flash floods of bad news?

The increasingly serious conflict in Viet Nam, or jittery days in the stock market, or labor-management conflicts in basic industries can and do darken the front pages. But today Americans have much better odds of surmounting crises with a minimum of personal tragedy than did the citizens of 30 or so years ago.

These safeguards have been built up by business, by labor unions, as well as by the government.

Some things Americans did wrong in the past they can't do today. Example: they can't plunge in the stock market with just 10 per cent or so of cash for the going price of the stocks they fancy. So they can't be wiped out so fast when stock prices tumble after bad news, or unfounded rumors. And they have access to, if they care to take advantage of it, much more information about the affairs of corporations and banks than in the 1920s.

If you have built up savings in banks or savings and loan associations, you are insured against loss to a degree that covers most such accounts.

If you have taken on a mortgage when buying your home, in many cases you have a government insurance policy on that, too.

The total of installment credit has risen to a record high. But the lenders say that in the vast majority of cases such debts are well protected by the income prospects of the borrowers.

There are unemployment benefits for you if laid off in a temporary industrial lull. There are pension plans sponsored by management or by unions and Social Security for the elderly. There is insurance for many when bad health strikes. Medicare for the aged is just over the horizon.

The government also is pledged now to try by its fiscal policies to keep incomes rising and employment as high as possible. Today the middle income class is strikingly larger than before World War II.

Prospects Dim For Adjournment Of Legislature

ALBANY N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki threatened today to keep the Legislature in session all summer, if necessary, as prospects for adjournment this week grew dimmer.

Democratic leaders had agreed to bring the 1965 session to a close on Thursday, but a late-blooming hassle over New York City finances suddenly disrupted their plans.

As the Senate and Assembly reconvened for what was supposed to be its adjournment drive, there were a few other controversial issues awaiting disposition.

Among them were proposals for a state lottery and legislation that lift present restrictions on sale of birth-control devices.

The major impediment was the request of New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner for approval of a plan he devised to help balance the city's $3.8-billion budget.

Wagner's surprise announcement last week that he would not seek re-election threw his request into jeopardy and consequently forced the adjournment drive off course.

The Wagner plan calls for a constitutional amendment that would permit the city to raise its real estate tax in 1967 from 2½ to 3 per cent. Meanwhile, he seeks permission to borrow $300 million to close a budget gap between income and spending.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes . . . Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold—without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatene®. These Primatene Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress.

So look forward to sleep at night, and freedom from asthma spasms.

Start it up and it turns into a Volkswagen.

Twist the key of the Karmann Ghia, and all kinds of wonderful things happen.

For one thing, the motor starts.

Don't laugh; a lot of other conventional engines might not. Especially on a miserably cold winter morning.

The reason the Ghia revs right up is because it's got one of those air-cooled Volkswagen engines in the back.

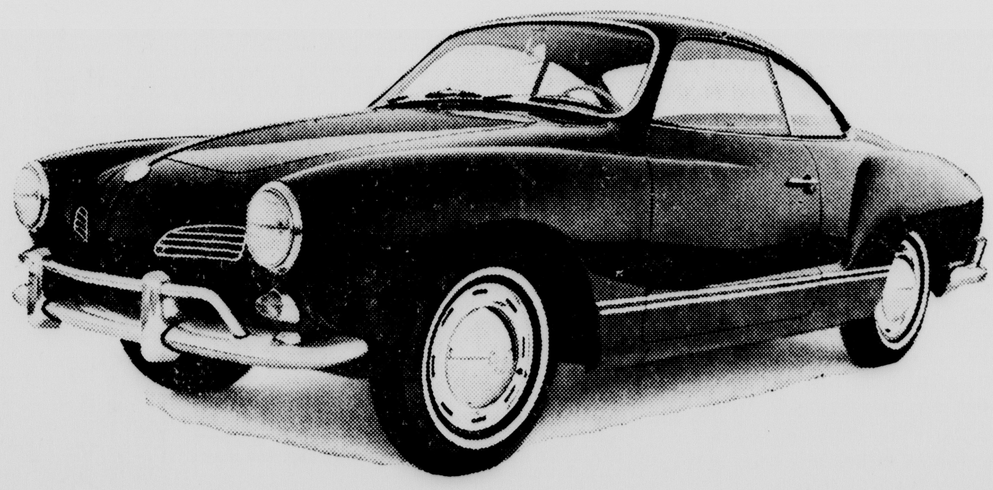

Drive a Ghia for a while, and your gas and oil bills will fall into that economical Volkswagen tradition. Tires will take you some 40,000 miles, Volkswagen style.

You'll get that remarkable Volkswagen traction. The easy availability of Volkswagen parts. The reasonably priced Volkswagen service.

Ditto for everything else Volkswagen.

But there is one thing that's a far cry from our beetle-nosed job: the Karmann Ghia's beautiful Italian-designed body.

So you can start it up, turn into a little bug, and nobody will know you're undergoing a metamorphosis. Except you.

JUST LIKE EARTH'S

Few of us will ever experience the thrills of space travel first hand, but the flight of astronauts McDivitt and White in Gemini-4 shows that even 100 miles above the earth, some things will always be the same.

Any father who has ever taken the tribe on an automobile trip has a pretty good idea of what it was like for the two majors.

Instead of having to monitor a maze of instruments and dials and assorted gadgets, dad is so busy watching traffic and road signs that he has little chance to relax and enjoy the scenery as the orbiting spacemen.

The same goes with this business of taking pictures. Whenever he pulls off the road to record a memorable scene, dad is so involved with lens openings and speed settings and composition that he never really sees what he's photographing. And unlike Major White, if he backs up too far while hovering over a great height to get an extra vehicular group picture of the family and its trusty capsule with wheels, he has no umbilical cord to haul himself back in with.

A bunch of restless kids in the back seat and a solicitous and direction-giving spouse in the front—"Have a drink of water, dear" —are certainly a reasonable facsimile of the ubiquitous ground controllers who supervised the astronaut's every action.

Speaking of the difficulties encountered in eating in space, any driver who has peeled hard-boiled eggs and bananas and juggled sandwiches, coffee, gear shift and steering wheel with only two hands while maintaining speed—"We'll never make Lake Minnehaha by tonight if we stop to eat"—has more than a little appreciation of the problems of the astronauts.

As for the tendency of a spacecraft to become littered with junk, as the astronauts reported theirs did, a look at the ravaged interior of the family chariot after an outing is enough to launch the head of the clan into suboribtal trajectory without benefit of rocket assist.

No, the spacemen didn't have it so rough. True, being swathed in a space suit and more or less immobilized for four days was no easy matter, but they at least had the convenience of weightlessness.

Best of all, nobody expected them to polish their capsule after they got home.

Crime boss Giancana is jailed for contempt of court. This is nothing new; his whole career is based on contempt of court and all "court" stands for.

LAWN MOWER LAW

An observant citizen has propounded what he believes to be an addition to the list of immutable laws of conduct. A little non-scientific observation suggests that he may be right. The law might be stated this way: The size and complexity of household lawn mowers varies in inverse ratio to the size of the lawn to be mowed.

By way of illustration, it can be said that as a general thing little old ladies with big lawns operate hand mowers, whereas burly fellow with postage-stamp lawns do the job with power mowers. Sometimes, though this is admittedly somewhat extreme, such fellows can be seen riding on the seat of a mower that barely gets to one end of the lawn before it trundles around for the return trip.

There are exceptions to this, law, granted. But it holds true in a striking number of cases. We don't know why; research has not progressed that far. Maybe it's just that little old ladies enjoy exercise.

THE WEEKEND LAW

The fishing season is well along, now, and many an angler already has met up again with the weekend law. Reduced to its essentials, this law may be stated about as follows: The fishing either has been better, or will be better, than it is now.

This is called the weekend law because it is never stated quite so brashly to people who come to stay on a lake for longer periods—a week or two, say. It applies with fufllest force to the man who has only a day or so get his limit. He is the one who hears something like this: "It's a little slow now, but you should have been here last week!" Or perhaps this: "They don't seem to be hungry today, but the weather's been bad. About next week they'll be hitting like mad."

To which the weekend fisherman wearily makes reply. "Yeah,I know."

PRACTICAL IDEALISM NOT WANTED

The most depressing thing about the world is the way in which practical idealists get used up and discredited. We are thus left with a choice between bums and climbers and glory hunters, and every new situation represents a worsening of the old.

To be specific about one instance, the best men in the Dominican Republic are all disqualified at the moment simply because they tried to do right and were, for one reason or another, forced to relinquish the reins.

There is Donald Reid Cabral, to pick the most eminent Dominican ex-statesman. If rationality were to govern the Dominican future, the Organization of American States and the U. S. State Department would be asking Reid Cabral to reconstitute his recently deposed civilian junta and go on with the business of trying to reform Dominican society. Donald Reid Cabral was forced out of office simply because he was doing his best to extirpate graft from the Dominican Republic's military forces. His successor, if he is to be any good, will have to try to pick up where Reid Cabral left off. So why wouldn't it be rational to bring Reid Cabral back again to do what must be done if the Dominican Republic is to have a decent future?

Then there is General Wessin y Wessin, another practical Dominican idealist who has opposed graft. He has apparently been ruled out as a candidate for a coalition government. Yet it was Wessin y Wessin who tried to prevent bloodshed in the recent confrontation of the military forces and the "rebels."

According to Paul Bethel, the ex-State Department man who got a bird's-eye view of events by riding around in a tank with Dominican army units in the earliest hours of the recent troubles, Donald Reid Cabral inadvertently did himself in by dispatching his Chief of Staff Rivera Cuesta to the so-called "27th of February" Army barracks to fire two officers for graft and disloyalty. Before he could carry out his thoroughly justified mission, Rivera Cuesta was made a prisoner by the very Army elements he had been sent to purify. Thus Reid Cabral, the head of the Dominican government, lost his power to command the military — which, in the Dominican Republic, meant loss of the power to govern.

When the army rebels refused to back down, General Wessin y Wessin, the practical idealist who commanded the San Isidro air base, tried to effect a peaceful transition. "We don't want bloodshed between elements of the military forces," so Paul Bethel quotes Wessin y Wessin as saying to Reid Cabral. "If there is any fighting, the country will disintegrate into chaos. I believe it would be better if you resigned." Reid Cabral tried to hang on by summoning loyalist soldiers to attack the rebels. But nobody moved. Meanwhile, a mob led by "the Cuban Communist Luis Acosta" (Paul Bethel's description) grabbed the Santo Domingo radio and TV stations to demand a return to the "constitutionality" of the long-since-deposed Juan Bosch regime. The fat was in the fire.

By taking quick action and sending in the Marines, President Lyndon Johnson prevented a takeover in the Dominican Republic by a mob that might easily have been manipulated by Communist agents. But who is there left to constitute a core of practical idealism capable of shaping a decent Dominican future?

Every suggestion to date seems to indicate a comedown from Donald Reid Cabral's candor and honesty, or from General Wessin y Wessin's desire to avert bloodshed. Dr. Joaquin Balaguer, who was President of the Dominican Republic immediately after the murder of the dictator Trujillo, is supposedly "tarred" by his old Trujillista connections. General Antonio Imbert, who drove the car which carried Trujillo's assassins to their bloody rendezvous, isn't trusted simply because he is a professional tough egg. And those Dominicans who were part of President Bosch's ill-fated regime are suspected of chronic indecision, or "softness" toward Communism, or even Castroite connections.

So what, pending a new election, could be better than going back to Reid Cabral, who sought to eliminate graft, with the decent Wessin y Wessin at his side? Of course, the suggestion is totally impractical. But, by this very token, we aren't going to get a good government in the Dominican Republic.

THE WELL CHILD

Complete Recovery Usual With Nephritis

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that two years ago her daughter, then 6, was hospitalized for three weeks with nephritis. Since then she has taken penicillin daily. This mother wants to know how much longer the child will have to take this antibiotic.

About 97 per cent of all children who have acute kidney inflammation (nephritis) make a complete recovery. During the acute stage bed rest and a low protein, salt-poor diet is advisable but, after the child begins to improve, these measures are no longer necessary. In any child who has had nephritis, usually as a complication of a streptoccal infection, it is important to guard against reinfection.

This means prompt treatment with an antibiotic or a sulfa drug at the first sign of a fever. Unless there is some other reason such as damage to the heart, treatment with penicillin is not usually given.

Q—My daughter, 4, was vaccinated and a week later she got sick. The doctor said she had nephritis. Could she have gotten it from the vaccination? She died and the autopsy showed she had pneumonia, nephosis and thymic hypertrophy.

A—The autopsy diagnosis of nephrosis is technically more accurate than any diagnosis made before death. Nephrosis is a kidney degeneration which may be a complication of pneumonia. In children of preschool age nephrosis is common and nephritis is rare. In addition to infections such as pneumonia, nephrosis may be due to a hereditary defect in the kidney or to an allergy.

Your child's vaccination would not cause either nephrosis or nephritis but if, through scratching, the vaccination became contaminated with streptocicci or other disease germs a generalized infection could occur and this might affect the kidneys.

The thymus is a gland that is normally enlarged (hypertrophied) in children. This finding would therefore, have no real significance.

Q—An examination of my daughter, 10, shows she has a hole in the partition in her heart. Does this require an operation or will she outgrow it?

A—A congenital defect in the heart is fairly common and the severity of the symptoms it produces varies widely. The hole will not close spontaneously but, on the other hand, operation is not usually needed for this type of defect. If breath on exertion and waterlogging of her ankles after being up and around all day, she may require an operation.

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If Hanoi's Reds are following Mao Tse-tung military theory, the big Viet Cong offensive now in the news doesn't aim at taking territory, strategic points or even at defeating government armies.

It aims at killing men, not at killing a lot of men in a lot of units, but at wiping out all officers and men in certain crack units. It aims at killing these men in horrible and dramatic ways or in maiming them after death (as by splitting abdomens).

An official cable from Saigon reports that in recent battles in Quang Ngai Province "two Vietnamese government (crack Ranger) battalions were completely decimated (sic). Only 65 men were left alive from one unit. There were 115 casualties out of 300 men in the second unit."

The Reds are shooting wounded prisoners at point-blank range. They're leaving bodies horribly mutilated.

For this "meat grinder" operation, Hanoi's Ho Chi Minh has put more northern regular army units into the south than has been reported. Five battalions of North Vietnamese troops may have been in these recent battles. They are highly efficient soldiers, uniformed and well-armed, with a heavy emphasis on automatic weapons.

They are backed up by auxiliary guerrilla units in nearby hamlets. These guerrillas move in and wipe out escaping survivors of a massacre.

THESE OPERATIONS TAKE ADVANTAGE of two psychological facts:

- Vietnamese fear mutiliation after death, especially disemboweling.
- Complete destruction of elite army units is "convincing emotional evidence" the Reds will win and that it's hopeless for an ordinary recruit to fight.

If the V.C. succeed in wiping out a chunk of the elite Vietnamese units, they'll follow with an all-out nationwide propaganda drive aimed at breaking the back of Vietnamese resistance.

This propaganda drive will aim at securing massive desertions from the government's armies. (Chiang Kai-shek's forces collapsed in China when whole battalions, divisions and armies went over to the Reds.)

It will seek to convince the fathers, mothers and youth of 12,000 South Viet Nam hamlets that being drafted for the Saigon army or fighting the Reds is equivalent to a particularly horrible (mutilated) type of suicide.

If the Communists can break morale in the government and neutral hamlets, they've won the war regardless of the size of the Vietnamese armies.

IT IS TOO EARLY YET TO SEE whether this Mao strategy will work in South Viet Nam. Certainly the first South Vietnamese reaction is different. The Vietnamese are not running from battle. They're staying, fighting and dying.

One report from Viet Nam says bodies of 75 Rangers from one crack government unit were found on one slope. They died making repeated charges against Viet Cong entrenched on the crest of a hill.

The number of Vietnamese volunteering for military duty is small, but is growing, not declining. Individual desertions continue high but even the Communists claim only a handful of small-unit desertions and these among the local militia.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The literature around this house is edifying. Gayle is absorbesd in lofty periodicals called Mad, Sick and Cracked Up. The little ones, Karen, 12, and Kathleen, 10 devour Nancy Drew mysteries and an assortment of comics which, if funny, have not drawn a laugh in a year. On an end table is something written by a musician called I Love You, I Hate You, Drop Dead.

Last night, sleepless, I picked up a book compiled by Louis A. Safian called "2,000 Insults For All Occasions." (The Citadel Press). It was, I found, categorized so that the insult is designed to fit the individual. Or give him one.

Under the general title, Big Heads, there are these gems: "Be careful when you speak of him you're talking of the man he loves." "His wife worships him — so does he." "Someone should press the down button on his elevator shoes." Sweet?

In the Birthday department, there are some sage observations: "The best years of her life were the ten between twenty-nine and thirty." "She's been pressing thirty so long it's pleated." "She has stopped exercising — pushing fifty is enough calesthenics for her."

A drinker, of course, can always be drop-kicked: "His friends don't know what to get him for Christmas; they don't know how to wrap a saloon." "His wife never worries about germs when he kisses her—he's always boiled." "He can get loaded on Scotch tape."

"If it wasn't for the olives in martinis, he'd starve to death." "He has saloon arthritis—every night he's stiff in another joint." "Every time you blow on him, he ripples." "A fool and his money are soon potted."

Cleverr-r-r. I could hardly wait to read about Bores I've met a few and been one. "He can stay longer in an hour than most people do in aweek." "That man can throw a wet blanket the length of the room." "He deprives you of privacy without providing you with company." "He can wrap up a one-minute idea in a one-hour vocabulary." "He never opens his mouth unless he has nothing to say." "He gets offended when others talk while he's interrupting."

Do you have a chatterbox in your house? Try these for size: "His mouth is so big he can whisper in his own ear." "Her tongue is so long she can seal an envelope after she drops it in the mail box." "The only thing that can cheat her of the last word is an echo." "She's getting a double chin—too much work for one."

It is always open season on chiselers: "He has a hydromatic handshake — no clutch." "He talks in stereo, out of both sides of his mouth." "He changes sides more frequently than a windshield wiper." "Give him a free hand and he'll stick it in your pocket." "He even gets cavities in his false teeth."

A grouch, or crab, rates some attention: "He's so narrow-minded he can look through a keyhole with both eyes." "He pays you a compliment as though he expected a receipt." "He won't even listen to both sides of a phonograph record." "He claims he never made a mistake in his life, but he has a wife who did."

The timid person, or cream puff, will find sympathy under the S's: "He wouldn't open an oyster without first knocking on the shell." "He refuses to wear contact lenses; what would he put on in case of a fight?" "When his psychiatrist asked if he had trouble making up his mind, he said 'Yes and No.' "He always stoops to concur." "He's so timid, he tells the elevator operator: 'Second floor please, if it won't take you out of your way.'"

Ripping, wot? But how about fashions? "Her gowns are cut to see level." "In choosing evening gowns, she goes all out." "You can't decide whether she's on the inside trying to get out, or on the outside trying to get in." "She wears atom-bomb dresses; 50% fallout." "She wears more clothes to bed than she does going out." "She goes to the beach in a bathing suit." "Her slacks are so tight she carries her kerchief in her mouth."

Deep, isn't it? Under Dumbbells, we learn that: "The only thing that can stay in his head more than a minute is a cold." "The last time he stuck his head out of a cellar door the kids started a hockey game." "He's like a blotter, takes it all in but gets it backwards." "He was fourteen when he learned to wave bye-bye." "She was asked what she thought of Red China, and she said 'It's all right if it doesn't clash with the tablecloth.'"

For slightly less than attractive women: "She's had her face lifted so many times that when she raises her brows she pulls up her stockings." "She'd be be safe cooking nude in a lumber camp."

Strange. My girls have trouble remembering one jot of their homework. I'll bet they can recite that book from cover to cover. . .

Europe Has Varied Ideas Of U.S. Policies Abroad

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What do Europeans think of American foreign policy today? Published criticisms indicate that many of the opinions expressed to visitors abroad reveal a lack of information and understanding of America's purposes.

There is always a tendency in other countries to regard the United States government as an inexperienced, if not immature, entity which would be much better off it it accepted the tutorship of its European allies. But much of the misunderstanding is due to faulty communication. Several of the influential European newspapers give more space to the critics of American policy than to its defenders. They have not emphasized to their readers as yet that the American people are almost solidly behind President Johnson in his policy in Viet Nam and in the Dominican Republic, despite the flaw-picking and captious comments from groups here that are inclined to pacifism or blind to the ravages of communism.

Similar elements helped by their tactics to bring on World War II, and indeed there were many Americans as well as Europeans who were fooled by the appeasement of Hitler at Munich.

But today the problem of communication is no better. The foreign offices of Europe know the purpose and details of the policies of the United States in the world, but their peoples do not.

Unfortunately, this subject of communication has not been given enough attention. The U. S. Information Agency is run by diplomatic minds here which insist upon cautious phrasing and an indifference to the anti-Americanism being expressed overseas. Instead of using the "Voice of America" to answer forthrightly criticisms leveled against the United States government, the USIA feels that it must operate a kind of news service which includes a full report of all criticisms—as if the European press is not able to get this directly from its own correspondents in America. It's just a waste of time and money for a governmental agency to try to become a news service when its real job is to answer the propaganda attacks being made against the American government.

There is need also for the Washington government to take note of European criticisms and to answer them directly in the newspapers and on radio and TV in this country. For the outlines of American policy are clear to those who really study the facts. Protagonists with an ax to grind can, of course, twist any American policy and present an image of a government that is either "trigger happy" or irresponsible But the truth is the United States today is doing more to prevent a nuclear war than has been done by any of the countries participating in the 20 years of post-war debate.

The United States government realizes that the quarrels within Viet Name are not in themselves important and that an ordinary civil war would be of no concern to the American people. But what the critics in Europe are refusing to recognize is that the Communists have been stirring up the trouble in Viet Nam, as well as in the Dominican Republic and other countries, and that, if the United States stands idly by, there certainly will be a major war which could result only in the use of nuclear weapons.

Preventive measures are more important now than they have ever been in the history of the world. The American people are strongly behind President Johnson in his policies in both Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, despite the sniping comments and mischievous efforts to make it appear that these policies have been undertaken without due deliberation here or consideration of the consequences.

The United States has extended the hand of peace only to be scorned. It has made extensive sacrifices in South Viet Nam. It has not tried to gain any territory or interfere with the independence of any country.

As for the Dominican Republic, the critics seem ready to argue that the operation of the Organization of American States are not as important as the services of the United Nations, but they forget that the UN has failed to do a peacekeeping job in Southeast Asia because of the strong Communist influence within that international organization itself. The sad truth is that the United States stands alone in coming to the aid of small nations because the UN has not done its duty.

To criticize the United States for extending a helping hand to countries in distress reveals an indifference to reality because, if America did not make the sacrifice it is making today, all of Southeast Asia as well as all of North Africa and the Middle East would soon be in the hands of the Communist bloc.

Mountain sickness is a disease that may occur in an individual several hours or days after he has ascended a mountain to an altitude of about 7,000 feet or higher. It is caused by the rarefied air at high altitude and the prolonged lack of an adequate oxygen supply in the blood and body tissues. Symptoms may be headache, sleeplessness, depression, or rapid heartbeat.

List Open Exam For Library Clerk

An open competitive examination for library clerk has been scheduled for Sept. 25 by the Ulster County Civil Service Commission, according to Thomas Bohan, executive secretary, who said the last day for filing applications will be Aug. 20.

At present, there is a vacancy in the Ellenville Public Library and another in the Onteora Central School District. Salaries vary.

The list resulting from this examination will also be used for appointment to appropriate vacancies as they occur in all school districts or libraries under Ulster County jurisdiction, excluding the Kingston Consolidated School System and the Kingston City Library.

The examination is open to legal residents of Ulster County, excluding residents of the Kingston Consolidated School District, or of a school district which has its personnel transactions adminmistered by Ulster County. Citizenship is a requirement for appointment rather than admission of examination.

Candidates must have completed a standard senior high school course, or any equivalent combination of experience and training sufficient to indicate ability to do the work. Applications may be secured from the Ulster County Civil Service Commission, County office building, UPO Box 172, Kingston.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Area Engineers To Hear Talk by Conservationist

RODNEY VAN DIVERT

Guest speaker for the Ulster Chapter of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers next Wednesday night, June 16, will be Rodney Vandivert, executive director of the Scenic Hudson Preservation Conference.

Announcement of the speaker was made today by Thomas Cerwonka, newly-elected president of the local engineers.

Wednesday's meeting will be held at the Kirkland Hotel starting at 7:30 p. m.

The Scenic Hudson Preservation Conference is dedicated to vigorously opposing the Consolidated Edison construction on Storm King Mountain. The SHPC will soon be in court attempting to reverse the Federal Power Commission decision and will present pertinent information which was not in the original records and was not included in consideration for original license.

Vandivert has been active in Long Island conservation circles. As chairman of the Hempstead Town Lands Resources Council, Vandivert recently accepted the American Motors Conservation Award for 1964.

Vandivert's talk should be of interest to all who are interested in conservation and also those who are interested in the development of stored water hydroelectric power suplies. Interested persons are invited.

Postmasters to Hold October Election

BOW, Wash (AP) — The town of Bow, County of Skagit, State of Washington is so small you wonder how a letter finds it, but you can bet the majority of the nation's 34,000 postmasters know that Bow is where Grandma Lu Henry lives.

A very pretty grandmother, Mrs. James C. (Luella) Henry is the first woman to bid for the presidency of the National Association of Postmasters.

Nearly half the country's postmasters are postmistresses. That statistic alone may worry her male opponents in the election scheduled for Omaha, Neb., in October.

To use a round number, the town of Bow has a population of 300 and Mrs. Henry has been its postmistress for 22 years.

Odds against her election include the fact that the present president is a Westerner—David Trevithick of Salt Lake City—and her opponents come from large Eastern districts.

In her campaign she is stumping the country — by mail.

Filming in Yugoslavia

LONDON (AP) — American independent producer Nicholas Ray, who is based in London, has entered an agreement with Avala Films of Belgrade to produce and direct a number of his projects in Yugoslavia. The initial contract is for three movies, starting with Dylan Thomas's "The Doctor and the Devils" which will go before the cameras in and around Belgrade and Zagreb in August.

Custom of the Christmas tree is said to be a survival of the tree worship of ancient German tribes.

Divided Highways Safest for Travel

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP) — "Now this is a long trip so play it safe; drive on divided highways where the traffic is heavy."

As odd as this advice may seem, it is sound. Statistics show that despite heavy travel, divided highways, such as turnpikes, parkways and interstate highways, have a much lower fatality rate than older highways.

During the three-day Memorial Day holiday period this year, in which a record 474 persons died in traffic crashes, divided highways were the safest auto routes.

An Associated Press survey indicated today that 12 deaths occurred on such roads in this period. And year-long traffic records show the same results.

National Safety Council records show the fatality rate on turnpikes and interstate highways is less than half the national average and less than one-third the rural mileage death rate.

One key reason is that head-on collisions are extremely rare on divided highways, separated by land or by ditches, earthen mounds or tough steel or concrete barriers.

Head-on collisions took 7,361 lives in the United States last year, accounting for 15.4 per cent of the 47,800 traffic fatalities.

During the first seven years of the New Jersey Turnpike, from 1952 to 1958, 48 of the 158 fatal accidents were caused by cars crossing over the unprotected median strip.

There has been one cross-median fatality since installation of a steel guard rail in 1961.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 14, the 165th day of 1964. There are 200 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt ordered the freezing of German and Italian assets in the United States.

On this date

In 1777, the Continental Congress adopted the Stars and Stripes as the U.S. Flag.

In 1934, Benito Mussolini met Adolf Hitler in Vienna.

In 1940, the Germans occupied Paris.

In 1944, American forces invaded Saipan in the Marianas.

In 1945, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce announced it favored a peacetime military training program.

Ten years ago — Russia offered Japan a draft peace treaty.

Five years ago — One million filipinos turned out in Manila to greet President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

One year ago — Eleven steel companies and the Steelworkers Union signed an agreement to promote racial equality in the industry.

Health for All

It Can Take Your Breath Away

The name of the ailment is Emphysema. It's not only one of the hardest to pronounce (try it this way: Em-fizz-EEM-uh), but doctors are now calling it one of the toughest to avoid after a certain age. For men, at any rate.

If that seems surprising, consider the word of Dr. Albert Roberts, chief of the Cardiopulmonary (heart-lung) Disease Division of the U. S. Public Service. He estimated recently that nine out of ten American men over 45 have at least a "slight" case of emphysema. Between one and two million persons have the disease in severe form, he says. Women are the lucky ones; emphysema attacks a far higher proportion of men. Like a quiet marauder, the disease comes slowly and sneakily. It attacks and breaks down the numerous little air sacs and tiny blood vessels of the lung. Result: the lung loses its elasticity. Its ability to get rid of stale used-up air is impaired. The breathing process may become a desperate struggle, often straining the heart until it can no longer function—and death results.

Exactly what causes emphysema isn't known. A chronic cough and undue shortness of breath are typical symptoms. It's apt to follow a long succession of colds with cough, or pneumnia, or chronic bronchitis. Cigarette smoking, while not a proved cause of emphysema, is usually found to have been a long-standing habit with those that have the disorder.

No cure is known, either. But a lot can be done to make the sufferer more comfortable, enable him to breath better with the equipment he has, and help him keep to a reasonably normal way of life—if the condition is detected in time. Your Christmas Seal Association, which fights all respiratory diseases including emphysema and TB, suggests that you have a doctor look you over if a cough refuses to go away or shortness of breath sets in.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc., 124 Green Street.

Elect Phone Man Red Cross Head, Ross Is Speaker

The election of G. Alan Johnson of Hurley Ridge as chairman of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, took place during the annual meeting of the board of directors this week.

Johnson, manager of the New York Telephone Co., Kingston, succeeds Wilbur R. Peters

The election highlighted a dinner-meeting of the membership at Williams Lake Hotel.

Johnson is a member of the executive board and district vice chairman of the Ulster County Boy Scout Council, a member of Kingston Kiwanis Club and the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Woodstock Country Club and a past member of the Poughkeepsie and Saratoga Rotary Clubs. Prior to coming to Kingston, he served on the Dutchess County Chapter Red Cross Board of Directors and was elected to the Ulster County Board in 1964.

He served in the U. S. Navy as a radar specialist and in the U. S. Army Infantry as a first lieutenant. He is a graduate of Syracuse University and he and his wife, Patricia, are parents of two sons and a daughter.

Others Elected

Other board officers who were elected to serve with Johnson are: Mrs. Catherine Carlson, Shokan, vice chairman; Francis Kolts, Hurley, treasurer and Vernon Murphy, Kingston, secretary.

At the dinner-meeting of the members with Wilbur R. Peters, Chapter Chairman presiding, Max Oppenheimer, Kingston and Charles Raible, Forest Hill Drive, Town of Ulster, were re-elected to a second term on the board of directors. Newly elected to the board were Louis J. Smith, Kingston; Miss Florence Ellison, New Paltz; Surrogate Francis X. Tucker, Hurley and Mrs. John Sloan, Wallkill.

Awards Are Given

Presentation of awards to several volunteers who have served the Ulster County Red Cross Chapter over a period of years was made by Mrs. Carlson. Receiving recognition for their contributions to the teaching of water safety wer the following: Mrs. Merrill Archard, New Paltz; Mrs. Linda Farrow, New Paltz; Robert Judson, Ellenville; Gerhard Klemm, Kingston and Honored for their outstanding contributions to the teaching of first aid were Mr. and Mrs. George V. Kelley, Woodstock and Irving Marcus, Ellenville. Each of these instructors has taught at least one Red Cross course a year for the past five years and has received no remuneration from the Chapter for their time.

Receiving recognition for their work as members of the Board of Directors of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross were the following: Mrs. Ernest Bell, Wallkill; W. Anderson Carl, Kingston; James Hood, West Hurley and Meyer Regenbogen, Ellenville. John O'Leary, West Hurley, was honored for his outstanding work in the 1965 Fund Campaign and Peters for his work on the Board of directors and as chapter chairman.

Peters presented Mrs. Carlson with an award for her work on the Board of Directors and presented an award to the executive director, Mrs. Walter K. Hubbard, in recognition of her 23 years as a member of the career staff of the chapter.

Gifffford W. Ross, dinner speaker, was introduced to the group by Zale Liese, Port Ewen, dinner chairman. Ross is the Red Cross Field Representative for Southeastern New York State and has been associated with Red Cross since 1945. He has had extensive experience with Red Cross in Puerto Rico, Korea, Japan, Cuba and the United States.

Outlines Activities

Ross outlined the activities of the Red Cross not usually seen at the local level. He pointed out that the American Red Cross is coposed of approximately 3700 chapters, that it is a $100 million a year organization, and that 77 per cent of its money is raised in United Fund campaigns.

Red Cross has a proud history, dating back for almost a century, he said. The American Red Cross is one of the more the 105 national Red Cross societies which make up the League of Red Cross Societies. The league makes its resources available to all the Red Cross societies in the world that need assistance.

His other comments were:

It was while he was on loan from the American Red Cross to the League of Red Cross Societies that Ross was assigned to reactivate the Korean Red Cross. In Korea, the Red Cross societies were primarily concerned with medical problems since programs are designed to met the needs of the country.

G. ALAN JOHNSON

He was allowed $7,000 per month to operate the reactivated Red Cross and used this money for salaries for doctors and other medical workers. The Korean government furnished the medical supplies. Because of the danger of epidemic in war-torn Korea, large-scale immunization programs were started. This resulted in prevention of epidemic in South Korea such as existed in the Communist dominated section of the country.

Ross described the living conditions for the 10 million refugees in Korea. Pusan, normally with a population of 700,000, became a city of over 3 million. Tens of thousands of persons lived in hovels on the hills surrounding the city. The rat population was estimated as 10 rats to one person. Since orientals slep on the floor, rats had ready access to them and mothers frequently slept with their children in their arms to prevent the infants from being chewed.

Was Advisor to Rhee

Ross served as advisor to former President Syngman Rhee of South Korea. He met frequently with Rhee, sometimes several times a day. Although they had respect for each other, they usually parted on unfriendly terms because Ross refused to let the President use the Red Cross for political purposes. While working on Operation Big Switch, the exchange of Korean prisoners of war, Ross encountered difficulty with Rhee, who refused to take part in peace talks. After months, Ross was successful in persuading Rhee that this was a humanitarian, not political program, that he would not be "losing face," and the exchange was carried out.

Ross spoke of the operation of the Red Cross in arranging for the exchange of the prisoners from the Bay of Pigs in Cuba. He described Fidel Castro as he knew him and said that after meeting him he recognized his usual actions for press, radio and gatherings as a way of inciting the people and that in reality he is "calm, cool, collected, cunning, and calculating, and far more dangerous" than he had seemed at first.

Ross pointed out that the real strength of the American Red Cross is at the local level and that "if we did not have local chapters we would not have the American Red Cross." He urged those present to support the Ulster County Community Chest in their campaign for funds and thus help support the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Navy Plans Event For New Recruits

Local Navy Recruiter Bill Keaton has announced that on Tuesday, June 20 at 2 p. m. at the local Navy Recruiting Station, Post Office Building, several local young men will be enlisted into the Navy's Enlist No-Go Later program.

Men enlisted on this date will have until Oct. 26 before reporting for active duty. They may go on active duty at any time during this four months.

Lieut. Paul F. Bauer, USN, assistant officer in charge, Albany Recruiting District, will be in Kingston June 29 to administer the oath to those enlisting. The office is making arrangements to have press and radio coverage of the ceremony.

Anyone desiring to enlist in this program may call the local Navy Recruiting office, collect. It will be necessary for the local office to complete all pre-application papers prior to June 24 for all youths who plan to enlist.

Luck Factor in Duplicate

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jon Shuster of Montreal writes, "You frequently write about the luck factor in duplicate but I am sure that you feel as I do that this luck factor is far less than in any other form of cards.

"I opened the king of diamonds against the six spade contract in the last round of a duplicate game. When South ruffed I realized that I was due for a bad score since my heart holding was such that South would surely make his contract and it appeared that few people would be in a slam contract. It seemed that desperate measures were necessary and I decided to risk giving an overtrick.

"South cashed his ace of spades and ace-king of clubs and ruffed his ten of clubs with the jack of trumps. He ruffed a diamond back to his hand and cashed two of his remaining trumps while I dropped a club. Then he led the deuce of hearts and I played the king! He won with dummy's ace and stopped for a lot of thought. Then he led a diamond from dummy, ruffing with his last trump while my partner false-carded with his ace of diamonds, whereupon South decided that East had to be holding the jack-nine-eight of hearts. Accordingly South led the four of hearts from his hand with the intention of end playing East. I took my jack and cashed the rest of the tricks for down two and a top score.

Only three pairs had bid the slam so my play had risked only one match point and gained 11

Quite a play! Mr. Shuster's skill payed off. South was unlucky.

Pavlova Comeback

ROME (AP) — The Russian-born actress Tatiana Pavlova has agreed to come back to the films after years of absence in director Massimo Francisoa's movie "Il Morbidone" ("The Weakling"). Pavlova was a star in Italian stage plays for 15 years and then made a dozen movies in the 30's. In "Il Morbidone" she will play the part of an elderly house servant who influences the life of her employer, the weakling.

Early toll roads were called turnpikes because travelers were stopped at the turnstiles, or turnpikes, to pay their fares.

O'Toole and Hepburn

LONDON (AP)—British born Peter O'Toole will co-star with Audrey Hepburn in "Venus Rising," a new movie which will be filmed in Paris in early August. The movie, a comedy about a ring of art forgers, will be in color. William Wyler will direct it.

Stars for Mystery

DUBLIN (AP) — Harry Alan Towers has assembled a raft of names to play in a movie version of the Agatha Christie mystery "Ten Little Indians" near Dublin. They include Hugh O'Brian, Daliah Lavi, Shirley Eaton, Wilfrid Hyde White, Stanley Holloway, Dennis Price and Leo Genn.

United States Embarrassed

Viet Nam and Dominican Situations Still Muddled

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is a strange year in Washington.

The customary bickering, bellowing and conflict have been absent because Congress, with its heavy Democratic majorities, has gone along amiably with President Johnson's requests and pressures.

This alone would make 1965 unusual but the comparative stillness spreads further than that.

There has been very little sense of American action, or leadership, except in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam where the United States has directly intervened.

Those two situations, in which the Johnson administration has been roundly criticized by many at home and abroad, might seem enough to occupy the President's time.

But he has found time for speechmaking and other White House activities.

Same in 1964

Actually, this is not the first Johnson year in which American foreign participation has been pushed into the background. It was the same in 1964 when Johnson concentrated on domestic affairs and getting elected.

Yet, in the two foreign problems where the United States has put most of its effort — the Dominican and the Vietnamese — the picture isn't clear and the solution is not in sight.

The Dominican revolution is far from settled. Where the United States is going in Viet Nam isn't clear a all, and Johnson isn't doing much to explain it.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is going to start an inquiry into the American role in the Dominican Republic but not Viet Nam.

In Viet Nam over the weekend the United States, once again, was confronted with the most continuing embarrassment of its long involvement there, the instability of the South Vietnamese government.

The United States has made a great point of insisting it is helping the South Vietnamese at the request of its government. But the question is being asked: What government?

South Viet Nam has had eight different governments in 20 months. The last one gave up several days ago when the president and premier resigned after four months in office.

Now the problem is to get another one which may last a while, and this time will it probably be all military, which means the South Vietnamese have had no voice in choosing it. So it will not be an elected government.

Out of this repeated demonstration of lack of governmental stability comes the unpleasant question:

Stability In Question

If the Americans do crush the Communist guerrillas, will the South Vietnamese government be any more stable than all those that preceded it, or will it collapse in chaos and civil war, undoing all the American effort?

But this is not the only uncertainty about events there.

It is generally assumed American involvement will be greater. No other conclusion is reasonable in view of the continuing American military buildup.

In the end the United States may be doing most, if not all, of the fighting for a people who seem ill-equipped to govern themselves, and if that happens the next question is inevitable:

Will the North Vietnamese then send in their army, and he Red Chinese their "volunteers," as they did in Korea, to help the guerrillas. If they do, the United States will be in a full- scale land war in Asia again.

TV Reviews, Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A happy ending is one thing a television viewer has come to expect.

Therefore the ending of Sunday night's ABC special, "Phil Hill: Assault on Le Mans," came almost as a shock. Phil Hill, our hero for the hour and a real-life professional racing car driver, triumphed over all sorts of difficulties before and during last year's famous sports car race. In the end, he was a loser.

Hill, a three-time Le Mans winner, last year was driving a new, sleek high-powered car — the first American manufacturer's entry in the great French race — and ABC cameras started concentrating on his activities about two days before the start of the run, just in time to record all of his troubles.

The Hill story was a natural for a television special. He is a handsome young man in a romantic and dangerous profession. The background of racing is colorful, the contest is dangerous and exciting.

As one of "The Daring American" series, it would have been perhaps more enlightening if it had fulfilled its promise at the outset to reveal some of the background and life of this daring driver.

As it was, we primarily witnessed his angry impatience with engine trouble and bleak disappointment with the car's failure.

If the program did nothing else, it stimulated viewers' interest in his year's Le Mans race next Saturday and Sunday. Hill is scheduled to drive the American car again and ABC expects to cover portions of it live via Early Bird satellite.

The television networks continue to be fascinated by the now familiar film of astronaut Edward H. White's space walk. NBC reprised it, plus the film of the Russian's exploit — on its "Sunday" program in midafternoon. CBS had a half-hour special later in which it matched up White's own description of his adventure with the film. Each time it is rerun, the viewer sees something new and fascinating in it.

Schwenk Vetoes Measure for Parks Council

Veto of a recently adopted Common Council measure dealing with the naming of an advisory council on parks and recreation by Mayor John J. Schwenk was announced today.

The mayor, now attending the State Mayors Conference at Rochester, said he will explain his veto when he returns. It had been noted at the meeting that the parks and recreation department are now under jurisdiction of the Board of Public Works, and some aldermen felt an advisory council was unnecessary.

Veto of another measure dealing with certain traffic changes was also reported and that is to be explained by the mayor when he returns to the city.

Standards of length are derived from the international meter which equals 39.37 inches.

Woman Injured In Car Collision

Mrs. Marjorie Ellsworth, 61, of 93 Washington Avenue, was injured at 1:30 p. m. Sunday when her car was involved in a collision on Route 9W about eight tenths of a mile south of the Kingston city line.

State Police Sergeant William Cameron said Mrs. Ellsworth was backing from a driveway when her foot slipped off the accelerator, causing the car to move backwards and collide with a vehicle operated by Julius Sippen, 47, of 33 Lucas Avenue.

Mrs. Ellsworth was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's ambulance. Trooper J. F. Czaplicki of Highland investigated.

DEATHS

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Reginald Orcutt, 71, former arctic explorer and retired business executive, died Friday. A retired vice president of the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., Orcutt in 1933 laid out the trip for Col. Charles Lindbergh's Icelandic flight.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—A.P. Moeller, 88, often described as one of the richest men in the world, died Saturday. Moeller was known for always economizing. It was a national joke that even Moeller could not do without the government old-age pension he collected each month. Born a sea captain's son of modest means, Moeller went on to build a fortune in enterprises around the world.

President Back Following Rest During Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was back at his desk today after a weekend of relaxation at his Texas ranch.

During the weekend, the President:

— Nominated Texas banker-attorney Edward A. Clark, 58, a longtime personal and political friend, as ambassador to Australia.

— Signed a bill authorizing military appropriations of $15.4 billion.

The measure includes $5.8 billion for aircraft, $1.4 billion for missiles, $1.7 for naval vessels and $6.4 billion for research, development, tests and evaluation.

— Appointed 12 public members to the Consumer Advisory Council and picked Dr. Richard H. Holton, former assistant secretary of commerce and now a University of California professor, as chairman.

— Released an Internal Revenue Service report which showed "a complete reversal of the traditional trend of mathematical errors" in income tax returns.

It said errors ran more than 3 to 1 in favor of the government, compared to a 2 to 1 ratio in favor of taxpayers during the past two years.

— Accepted the resignation of Malcolm Kilduff, assistant White House press secretary, who is forming a Washington public relations firm.

Redeemer Lutheran Confirmands Received

At the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers Streets the 1965 confirmation class received its first Communion Sunday, administered by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise and James I. Mehan, student assistant.

The class which had been received into adult membership in the church by the Rite of Confirmation on Pentecost knelt at the altar as a group to receive the sacrament of the Lord's Supper for the first time. In accordance with the tradition of the Lutheran Church the group had received special weekly instruction in Christian doctrine for a period of two years.

The confirmation class which was entertained at a supper Sunday evening, given by the Elcon-Teens, the youth organization of the congregation, includes the following young people: Richard Baltz, Ted Blankschan, John Burger, Gary Clark, Deborah Clum, Richard Frankenfield, Richard Hayner, Linda Jensen, Louise Jensen, Douglas Jones, Linda Joy, Thomas Maines, Linda Rizzi, Tamara Rossi, Franklin Saxton, Ellen Skatrud, Richard Swithers, Karen Wallace, and George Wendland.

Spelling Is Bad But Paper Sells

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The spelling is bad, but the news is told and the paper sells. This is the story of 9-year-old Philip Lee's newsletter, which he publishes in suburban College Park when the mood strikes him.

His brother Eric, 6, is circulation manager. Philip reported in the newsletter that Eric enters the first grade in September and adds: "He is pretty smart. The Editor has taute him all he knows."

Philip's mother, Mrs. George Lee, cuts his stencils for him, retaining his original spelling, and St. Mary's Episcopal Church provides a mimeograph machine. Philip's topics cover a wide range, from the neighborhood to Viet Nam.

For a nickel, you can read these items from Philip's latest edition:

"Sister Annunciata, a nun is sick and tird at St. Josephs Hosbital. She had an oporration for very close veins. She is tird because she has been on her feet for 50 yrs. God bless her."

"Mrs. Grace Olds broke her foot and she is very unhappy about it."

Reporting the upcoming marriage of Miss Laura Slade and Lt. Richard B. Skelton, Philip writes: "Everybody will be dressed up fine specily her grandmother Mrs. A. L. Slade who says she will look finer than anyone cept the bride. They will get married. And will live happily ever after."

Noting that Glenda Kimsey "studies underwater caves and climes montans," Philip concludes: "She is brave for a girl."

In an editorial on Viet Nam, Philip supports the U.S. position there, reasoning, "If some boys were picking on my brother Eric, I would help him."

Philip's venture into the publishing field began last March when he needed money to buy his brother a birthday present. Since then he's put out four editions — and sold 110 copies of the last one.

"Philip's editorials," his mother says, "generally are on things he feels very strongly about — such as not being able to talk in the bathroom at school. He said it was too much like the Nazis (Phillip spelled it Notsees).

"So far his only complaints have been from the school. They asked him not to print any more editorials about the school, and so far he has complied."

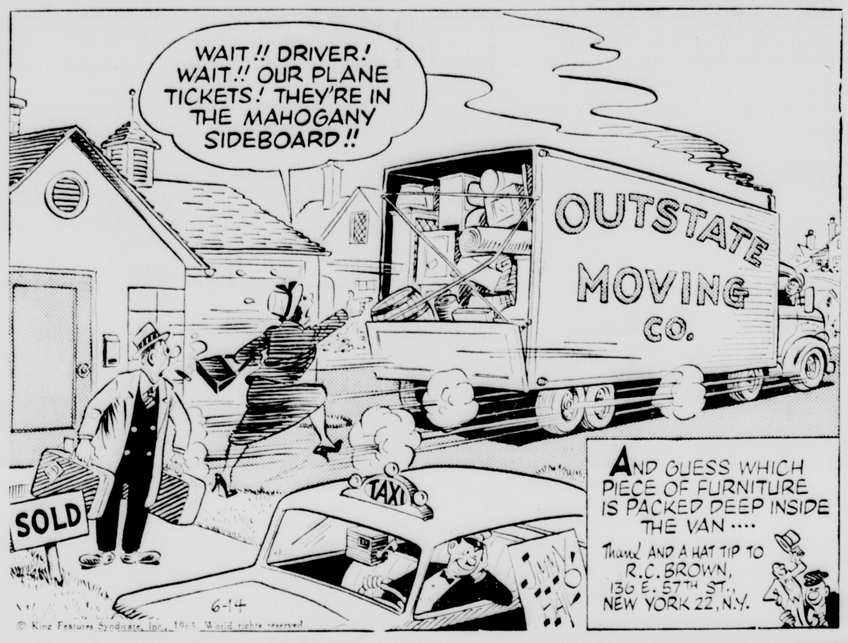

Mrs. Lee said Philip's original spellings haven't disturbed his readers, except perhaps his father who is an English teacher at Lakshore High School in College Park.

All Is Serene At Ponderosa— Trio in Harmony

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All is serene at old Ponderosa as "Bonanza" plunges into its seventh year of filming, without the services of Pernell Roberts.

Long the dissident member of the Cartwright clan, Roberts pulled out when his contract ended last season. That left Lorne Greene, Dan Blocker and Michael Landon to mind the ranch. They're managing quite well, says Mike.

"It's a heavier work load for the three of us this season," said the actor, the handsome Little Joe of the series. "But it's worth it. There is harmony on the set now."

Mike, the youngster (age 28) of the Cartwrights, and his costars were awarded a raise for the new season—from $4,500 to $10,000 per show. Plus payments for replays.

The new contracts extend for another six years. If options extend "Bonanza" to a full dozen years, the surviving trio could well be millionaires.

"It's great for an actor to have that kind of security," Landon said. He had personal doubts that the series would go the full route, since NBC may one day become anxious to cash in on the lush syndication market. The economics of television are such that it sometimes pays to take a series off the network to profit from replays in the daytime or on local stations.

"But I think we're good for a little while more," Mike said. "This has been our biggest year in the ratings. Even if we lost 20 per cent of our audience, we'd still be No. 1."

What is being done to explain the absence of Roberts?

"We won't kill him off; that would be too hard on the kids in the audience," Mike said. "He'll just be off teaching school in the East somewhere. We'll manage."

Siller Named Bank Trustee

LOUIS M. SILLER

Louis M. Siller, president of Siller Beef Company, Inc., has been elected to the board of trustees of the Rondout Savings Bank, it was announced today by William J. C. Buddenhagen, president. The local business executive was elected by the trustees at their June meeting.

The Siller Company, now located in Hurley, was founded in 1900 by Jacob Siller, father of the president, in the downtown section of Kingston.

Mr. Siller also is president of Siller Realty Company and secretary-treasurer of Sumsil Realty Company.

He is a member of Agudas Achim and Ahavath Israel congregations of this city.

Married to the former Mildred Bernstein, the Sillers and their six children reside at 16 Charlotte Street, this city.

Hurley Summer Recreation Plans

Starting Monday, June 28, and continuing through August 13, the Town of Hurley Youth Commission will conduct its annual summer program for youths residing in the Township of Hurley.

Due to lack of participation and interest, the morning playground activities have been abandoned. The afternoon swimming program, which has been so popular for many years, will again take place from 1 to 4 p. m. Monday through Friday at DeWitt Lake.

At 12:30 p. m. a bus will leave the Firehouse in West Hurley. Another bus will leave from the Reformed Church in Hurley at the same time. Both busses will return to their pickup points at about 4:30 p. m. To be eligible for the swimming program, each child must have completed second grade.

There will be four lifeguards on duty at all times. Swimming instruction for various levels of achievement will be given. If a child signs up for instructional swimming, regular attendance is necessary.

Registration will take place on opening day. Late registration is permitted.

Special teenage trips will be conducted throughout the season and will be announced via local newspapers.

Further information may be obtained by calling one of the Youth Commission members—Ernest Meyer or Roy Weber of Hurley, or Mrs. Fay Klinger, Mrs. Erne Levins, and Floyd Robbins of West Hurley.

Olsen on Destroyer

Seaman Apprentice John K. Olsen, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Olsen, of 20 Millrock Road, New Paltz, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Sperry, an alternate recovery ship for NASA's Project Gemini orbital mission. His ship was a unit of Navy Task Force 140, the primary recovery organization for last week's two-man, four day space mission.

Fighter Pilots in Viet Seek Action but MIG's Shy Away

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — A small group of American pilots called "The Blue Knights" have flown more than 750,000 miles in hope of tangling with enemy MIGs.

They are members of the U.S. Air Force's 476th Tactical Fighter Squadron and their speedy chariots are F104 Skyfighters.

MIGs Shy Away

"We've sighted MIGs once or twice, but they wouldn't come near us," said Maj. Walter W. Irwin, Apple Valley, Calif. "To the best of our knowledge, they were North Vietnamese, not Chinese."

The Blue Knights got a hurry-up call to speed here from their California base after two MIGs shot down two U.S. F105 Thunderchief fighter bombers on a mission against North Vietnamese targets early in April.

Defending the fallen Thunderchief pilots, Maj. Irwin remarked: "It isn't that the MIGs got them were superior airplanes. The Thunderchiefs were loaded down with bombs."

On their arrival here April 19, the Blue Knights were assigned to keep the MIGs off U.S. fighter bombers.

They've done their job to perfection.

No Loses Reported

"There hasn't been a single plane of ours shot down by an enemy plane since we came over," said Irwin. "Our striking forces have been unmolested from the air."

Even so, the Blue Knights are a bit blue about the whole business.

They have spent about 1,500 hours in the air on more than 570 sorties—every one to a North Vietnamese target area—and flown three-quarters of a million miles.

But what most of them really want is to test themselves in combat against the enemy. So far the MIGs have refused to respond to the challenge.

The pilots average age is 29 to 30. At 42, Irwin, the operations officers, is the "daddy rabbit" of the outfit.

The Skyfighter pilots are proud of their plane. It flies at twice the speed of sound and carries two air-to-air Sidewinder missiles plus a 20mm "Gatling gun" that can fire more than 4,000 rounds a minute.

Peck, Loren in Comedy

LONDON (AP) — Gregory Peck has arrived in London to star with Sophia Loren in "Arabesque," an adventure comedy movie which will be produced and directed by Stanely Donen. Donen's last movie was the highly successful "Charade."

Business Still Booming For Blaster at 81

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — After nearly half a century, business is still booming for George Goetsch, 81.

A licensed blaster, he blows up the unwanted river ice jams, rock deposits, farm silos blocking suburban developments. For him, it is hobby, habit and profit.

A tall, big-boned man with large hands, he has never had an accident. "If you had one, it would just be one good one," he says.

Retired from his regular job as a custodian, Goetsch continues to work with explosives ranging from a single pound for some projects up to a ton for quarry and rock work.

CSEA Head Seeks To Cancel Tests Set for June 19

The Civil Service Employees Association has called for immediate cancellation of an examination for employment service supervisor, Grade 23 ($1,090-$12,110) within the State Division of Employment, Department of Labor, which is scheduled for Saturday, June 19.

Joseph F. Feily, president of the CSEA, urged the cancellation in separate telegrams to two members of the State Civil Service Commission, Miss Mary Goode Krone, president, and Alexander Falk, and to State Industrial Commissioner Martin P. Catherwood.

Feily charged that the proposed weighting of the examination, 30 per cent for the written portion and 70 per cent for the oral portion, is illegal.

Meanwhile, Issy Tessler, president of CSEA Chapter 428, urges all chapter presidents of the CSEA to communicate with Feily by telegram or letter to call a special delegate session for the purpose of securing a salary increase. The chapter president also urges all state workers to write to their local representatives and express their feelings about not receiving a salary increase this year.

Feily also protested that a "discriminatory promotional field" (titles eligible to participate) was being used for qualifying experience for taking the June 19 test. He said "if the Department of Civil Service fails to cancel the examination, we shall be obliged to seek redress in the courts on behalf of our members."

The action was the result of a day-long meeting here yesterday of CSEA's state-wide Division of Employment Committee which recommended cancellation of the examination or court action, if necessary.

CSEA contends the promotion field should be extended to at least six more job titles. It is now limited to nine.

The examination is being conducted to fill vacancies in each of the Division of Employment's eight districts — Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, Hicksville, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, and White Plains.

Under the duties described in the examination announcement, an employment service supervisor "plans and administers empolyment service programs within a major labor area, including placement and youth service activities, employer relations and job development and community manpower development."

ABC's of Equal Employment Act

Sweeping Law Will Cover Most Employers, Unions, Agencies

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sweeping new federal law designed to eliminate racial discrimination on the job begins going into effect July 2, and eventually will cover most of the nation's employers, labor unions and employment agencies.

It is the equal employment opportunity section—Title VII—of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It forbids employment discrimination based on "race, color, religion, sex, or national origin."

Who is subject to the law?

In the first year, employers with 100 or more workers are covered. The figure drops to 75 in the second year, 50 in the third and finally to 25 in 1968.

The same formula applies to labor organizations with more than 100; then 75, then 50 and finally 25 members.

Employment agencies are covered regardless of size.

Some Exemptions

Is anyone exempt from the law?

The biggest exemption under employers is the U.S. government, but the law says "it shall be the policy of the United States to insure equal employment opportunities for federal employes without discrimination."

State governments and their political subdivisions also are exempt.

So are Indian tribes and "bona fide" private membership clubs.

What constitutes discrimination under the law?

Generally, any action based on five points—race, color, religion, sex or national origin—that hurts an individual in his job, his attempt to get a job, his pay, working conditions, or privileges of employment.

An employer would violate the law if he fired or refused to hire; discriminated in pay, working conditions or job privileges; or segregated, limited or classified employes, on the basis of any of the five points.

A labor union would break the law if it barred membership, expelled a member, segregated its members, refused to rfr an individual for a job, or caused an employer to discriminate, on the basis of any of the five points.

An employment agency would violate the law if it failed or refused to refer an individual for a job, or discriminated in any other way, on the basis of any of the five points.

Printer Not Responsible

It also is illegal for any employer, labor organization or employment agency to publish any job advertisement that indicates preference based on race, color, religion, sex or national origin. Government lawyers say a newspaper which printed such an advertisement would not be held responsible.

There are a few exceptions to the ban on discrimination.

It is not unlawful to hire on the basis of religion, sex or national origin if they are a "bona fide" qualification for the job.

Educational institutions are exempt in employment connected with their educational activities. Religious groups can hire members of their particular faith without violating the law.

The law also specifically exempts the hiring of Indians on or near a federal Indian reservation.

The protection for Indians follows general congressional policy of trying to help reservation Indians, who are wards of the federal government.

Sanctions Job Promotion

The law also sanctions job promotion based on a seniority or merit system, or hiring on the basis of an ability test, provided they are not used to mask discrimination. It also preserves veterans preference rights.

What are the penalties for violation of the law?

If conciliation fails, a complainant can file a civil suit in any federal court. The court can issue an injunction against any discriminatory practice, and can order the hiring or reinstatement of an individual with or without back pay.

The court can provide an attorney for the complainant and free him of all court costs.

Violation of a court order could, as in other cases, bring a contempt of court fine or jail sentence.

The law also provides a $100 fine for any employer, labor union or employment agency that "wilfully" refuses to post in a conspicuous place a summary of the law to be prepared by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Criminal penalties up to $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison are provided for forcibly resisting the commission or any of its agents.

Next: How will the law work?

Fulton Youth Wins Safe-Driving Contest

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP)—David A. Jahsman, 18, of Fulton has won the New York State teenage safe - driving contest in "overtime" after tieing with Donald Duley of Plattsburgh in the regulation contest.

Both youths scored 462 points out of a possible 550 to lead the field of 63 in the competition Saturday, which was sponsored by the state chamber of commerce.

Jahsman won the first prize of a $100 bond and a trip to the national finals Aug. 2-5 in Washington, D. C., in a runoff skill-driving test.

Duley won a $75 bond, Henry Gerlitz of Warwick, who finished third, took home a $50 bond. Salley O'Rourke of Buffalo finished fourth in the competition and won a $25 bond for leading the field of 30 girls entered in the test.

Moonshiners Move To Become Citified

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Moonshiners no longer are heading for the hills, they're heading for the big city.

Makers of illicit whisky—usually country boys according to the folk legends—are moving to the city because, says Stanley E. Gaulding, head of the enforcement division of Virginia's Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, "the hunters are driving them out of the woods and because of the lack of foliage in winter for cover.

"They also want to be closer to their markets."

BOYLE'S NOTEBOOK

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:

Every military campaign creates new slang and fresh expressions that make our English language more colorful.

The war in South Viet Nam has produced a number of them already — and more will follow as the fighting goes on.

For example, French maps are used here that measure distances in kilometers rather than in miles. But no one calls a kilometer a kilometer. It's a "click."

In Korea, the enemy was referred to as "gooks." Here they are called the Viet Cong, but the U.S. Marines have shortened this to "them Congs."

The big verb over here is some form of the word "zap." You don't shoot an enemy — you zaphim. And if he wounds you, you've been zapped.

But by far the most widely used expression is "sorry about that." It is ironical in nature and can be translated roughly as meaning, "I know you've got big troubles, but why do you think that makes you any different from me? Solve them yourself."

Many of the servicemen now are wearing "sorry about that" shoulder patches sewn on to their uniforms by Chinese or Indian tailors. When someone starts to pour out his woes to you, you simply point at the patch, smile sympathetically — and go your way.

The language barrier here creates some antic moments.

Weary of insect pests, a couple of correspondents told the waitress at the Da Nang press center, "Can't you find us a couple of fly swatters?"

The girl smiled, nodded, disappeared. She returned shortly and set two glasses of ice water before them.

The newsmen were mystified. Finally, one said glumly:

"I get it. You ask for fly swatters and you get iced waters. I'm afraid we're going to be in this country longer than I thought."

Tall, slender Herbert J. Minikus, 35, an Air Force sergeant who plans to settle in Austin, Tex., some day, received the pleasant news that he had been promoted to master sergeant. In a mood of celebration he went to the noncommissioned officers club, "Take Ten."

There, he fished a final quarter out of his pocket and put it in a slot machine. Three stars showed up it paid $250. The celebration continued.

San Francisco Has Its Pigeon Problems

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If a pigeon could read, he'd know he is outlawed from downtown San Francisco, starting July 1.

That's when a new section of the Police Code, approved by the Board of Supervisors, takes effect. It sets up 10 areas—all away from downtown—where pigeons may be fed. Elsewhere, the code calls for pigeon traps.

But the code isn't clear on who's responsible. So the swarms of pigeons go right on convening at the bus terminal, the railroad depot, on cornices of downtown buildings, monuments, fountains and streets.

"We don't plan to do anything about the pigeons until we see how the public drive for a sanctuary in Golden Gate Park progresses," says Dr. Ellis Sox, the city's health director.

"And even then, it is not up to my department to remove the birds from the downtown area.

"If, after a time, the proposed sanctuary is not ready, then we will ask that pigeon traps be set up in Union Square and other populated areas heavily populated by pigeons. But we do not have funds to finance such a program."

Lengthen House

ATLAS TIRE GUARANTEE AND ADJUSTMENT AGREEMENT

Every tire bearing an Atlas trademark is of such quality that, when subject to normal conditions of wear and tear, it may be expected to render satisfactory service, and it is guaranteed against all tire failures not excepted below, which occur during the life of the original tread design of the tire when used in normal passenger car service.

In the event of such tire failure THE AMERICAN OIL COMPANY will replace such tire with a new tire of the same grade and size as indicated herein, and the purchaser will be charged and agrees to pay a sum equal to the current price, plus excise tax, of the tire at the time and place of adjustment, less an allowance determined by multiplying such current price, plus excise tax, by the percentage of the original tread design exclusive of the undertread then remaining on the tire.

THIS GUARANTEE DOES NOT COVER: (a) tires branded "seconds", tubes, recapped or regrooved tires; (b) tires having repairable punctures; (c) tires failing as a result of running flat, fire, wrecks and collisions, chains or obstructions on vehicle; (d) tires used on vehicles in common carrier bus service.

ALL LIABILITY OF THE AMERICAN OIL COMPANY FOR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGE IS, INSOFAR AS PERMITTED BY LAW, EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMED.

NO AGREEMENT, UNDERSTANDING, OR WARRANTY EITHER EXPRESSED OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING IMPLIED WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY, REGARDING THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THIS GUARANTEE AND ADJUSTMENT AGREEMENT OTHER THAN THOSE EXPRESSED HEREIN SHALL BE DEEMED TO EXIST OR TO BIND ANY PARTY HERETO. Alterations or erasures in this Guarantee and Adjustment Agreement will render it void. This Guarantee and Adjustment Agreement must be presented when making claims.

Kerhonkson Man Hurt in Auto Crash

Donnal Sparling, 26, of Box 192, Kerhonkson was injured Saturday when his 1961 car was involved in a collision on Fordmore Road about 400 feet south of Route 44-55, Kerhonkson.

State Police BCI Investigator Charles Teelon of Ellenville said Sparling was taken to Benedictine Hospital suffering chest injuries. The other vehicle was a tractor-trailer owned by Jerry Quick, Kerhonkson, and driven at the time by Adelbert Lyons, 35, of RD 2, Accord.

Troopers reported Lyons was traveling south on a left curve and Sparling was driving in the opposite direction when the vehicles collided.

Guest Speaker Is Named for Area Church Meetings

REV. RICHARD STURZ

Executive of the Chamber of Evangelical Literature for Brazil, the Rev. Richard Sturz, will be guest speaker at area churches Wednesday through Friday. He will be speaking each day 6:30 p. m. at the Olive-Shokan Baptist Church, West Shokan and 8 p. m. at the First Baptist Church, Phoenicia.

The Rev. Mr. Sturz coordinates CLEB's conferences and workshops for those who are producing and selling Christian literature in Brazil. Such workshops have helped writers, literacy workers, book store managers, and traveling colporteurs.

Sturz' literature work necessitates a close tie with the language and customs of Brazil. In his last report to his mission board, Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society of Wheaton, Ill., Sturz observed that "Brazil has been called the Land of Tomorrow. But that tomorrow has already dawned. A tremendous industrial revolution has gripped the country, and Brazil is booming, not only in a material sense, but also in regard to spiritual and social questions." When he speaks, the Rev. Mr. Sturz will talk about the country of Brazil as well as about his literature work there.

Prior to going to South America, the Rev. Mr. Sturz was graduated from Westmont College, Santa Barbara, Calif., and from Eastern Baptist Theological seminary, Philadelphia. In 1959 he received his Th M from Fuller Theological Seminary, Pasadena, Calif. During his furlough, he is working toward a PhD in theology.

Public Hearing On Patrol Car For Rosendale

A public hearing will be held by the Town Board of the Town of Rosendale Tuesday at the Grange Hall, Main Street, there, at 8 p. m. on the proposition of adoption of a Local Law to authorize the purchase or lease of an equipped patrol car to be used by the town constables.

There has been considerable discussion over adoption of the Local Law, enabling the town to acquire a patrol car for use by the town constables. Provision for the car was made last December when the sum of $5,500 was put in the budget to cover cost of a car and establishment of a town constabulary.

James H. Hicks of Tillson, a leader of the opposition, stated it was against the town law for towns of the second class to have a police car" and the town "now seeks to invoke the Home Rule Law, Article 3, Section 20, which would enable the town to have a patrol car." Hicks said the Home Rule Law was new and never had been tested in the courts. He charged that the taxpayers "are taxed enough now without this additional expense." Hicks said the plan was to have a constabulary set up in Bloomington, High Falls Park and Tillson but leave Binnewater and Cottekill with no resident constable. He charged that at a prior public hearing by a 30 to 12 "show of hands" vote the proposition had been "voted down."

Hicks said the sheriff's department and state police had done a good job in the area and if constables were available in all sections of the town and subject to call, protection to all areas would be complete without the need for the contemplated patrol.

Pakistan President Welcomed by Nasser

CIARO (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan arrived today for a two-day state visit and was greeted at the airport with an embrace from President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

An Egyptian government spokesman said the talks between the two leaders will deal mainly with the forthcoming conference of African and Asian leaders in Algiers and with ways of increasing cooperation between Pakistan and the United Arab Republic.

John Paul Jones, the famed naval officer of the American Revolution, whose victories at sea meant so much to its success, died at 45, embittered and broken physically. He died in France in 1792 and was buried in an unmarked grave. It was more than a century before his remains were discovered by the United States ambassador and an escort of United States ships brought his remains back to America, where a crypt had been prepared in the naval chapel at Annapolis.

Dutchess Woman Dies of Burns

A 77-year-old Dutchess County woman, who suffered burns Friday when she returned to her burning home in an attempt to save her five pet cats, died Sunday at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Mary Knapp of New Hamburg, had been assisted from the house by her son, Elmer, 37, after he discovered fire burning in a shed attached to the residence. He told Town of Poughkeepsie police that while he was at a neighbor's home telephoning for the fire department, his mother went back into the house in a futile attempt to rescue her cats.

She was rescued a second time by her son and a neighbor, Lottie Wood, 74. The neighbor was taken to Vassar Hospital and treated for shock and burns. Knapp was treated at the scene for burns.

The fire, which Knapp said might have been caused by spontaneous combustion in the shed, gutted the Knapp home before it was extinguished by New Hamburg and East End Fire Company volunteers.

Dutchess Farmer Dies of Injuries

A 57-year-old Dutchess County farmer died Saturday in Northern Dutchess Hospital, Rhinebeck, of injuries sustained on Sunday, June 6 in a traffic accident on River Road near Barrytown.

Dr. Michael Badeen, Millerton, an assistant Dutchess County Medical examiner, said Valentine Sessler, Town of Red Hook farm operator and former butcher, died of a collapsed right lung and a congestion of the brain.

Dr. Badeen declined to rule whether the death was the result of the accident injuries. He referred the case and submitted a report of his investigation to Dr. Chester H. Golding, county medical examiner, who will conduct a formal inquest later.

Sessler, authorities said, was injured a week ago yesterday when his car hit a tree off River Road, near Barrytown. Dr. Badeen said Sessler refused medical attention at the scene, but several hours after the mishap he was admitted to the Rhinebeck Hospital for treatment.

Escape Injury When Their Cars Kill Deer

Two motorists escaped injury early Sunday when their cars struck and killed deer near Ellenville.

State Police BCI Invesigator Charles Teelon reported Robert McClay, 25, of Napanoch, was driving his 1961 car east on the Ulster Heights Road about four miles outside Ellenville, when a deer leaped against the left front of the vehicle.

At 2 a. m., a half hour after the other deer-car mishap, Barry Skolnick, 23, of 9 Inwood Street, Ellenville, was driving his 1958 car south on Route 209 about a half mile south of the Route 44-55 intersection, when a deer leaped in the path of his car and was hit and killed.

Polio Victim Walks to Get College Diploma

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Nancy Malinosky, 21, a polio victim confined to a wheelchair for 15 years, started practicing walking last January behind locked doors. Only a few close friends who helped her knew about it.

"My parents have done so much for me. I wanted to do it for them," she said. Her parents weren't told, she said, because she didn't want to build up their hopes.

Nancy's determination paid off in a big way Sunday.

She walked across the stage like the other 396 members of the Baldwin - Wallace College graduating class to get her diploma.

"The stage is 33 feet wide — we measured it last February," said Nancy. "Last Tuesday I practiced on the stage. It was sort of uneven, but I was sure I could do it."

Just to be on the safe side, she got word to Baldwin-Wallace President Alfred B. Bonds Jr. so that "if I got to him and he saw that I was shaky he would escort me the rest of the way."

When her name was called as the top student in her class, Nancy rose and walked with measured steps.

"I was too scared to remember much about it," she said later, but Dr. Bonds did meet her half way across and helped her the rest of the way.

Then, while she rested on Dr. Bonds' arms, the audience gave her a five-minute standing ovation.

Her mother, Mrs. Raymond Malinosky of Geneva, Ohio, cried for joy.

"It was a real gift for us," said Mrs. Malinosky.

She said Nancy was struck by polio when she was 6, had tried to walk a few steps then, but since had been confined to the wheelchair.

Now that's she's walked this far, will Nancy keep trying?

"I'm going to do as much as I can," she said happily.

Nancy compiled a 93.87 average and plans to enter Drew University Theological Seminary in the fall to work for a bachelor of divinity degree. She is interested in a career in teaching and guidance counseling.

Dunkirk Man Held In Wife's Slaying

DUNKIRK, N.Y. (AP)—A 72-year-old man has been charged with first-degree murder in the ice-pick slaying of his wife.

Police said they charged Michael Jakubowski Sunday after the body of his wife, Wanda, 52, was found on the living room floor of the couple's home.

Jakubowski earlier had walked into police headquarters and reported he had killed his wife.

Police said the couple had argued over money.

Chautauqua County Coroner Anson Stewart said Mrs. Jakubowski died of two stab wounds in the heart, inflicted by an ice pick.

Boy, 12, Tells Grim Story of Flood in Texas

By MIKE COCHRAN

SANDERSON, Tex. (AP) — "I grabbed a tree, but there was a snake on it and I let go.

"I went under 5 times, maybe 10 times.

"I thought I was going to die."

This was the grim story of Michael Johnson, 12, as he told of his brush with death in the flash flood that temporarily isolated this southwest Texas community Friday.

The slender, blond youth, speaking from a hospital bed at Ft. Stockton, 65 miles north of here, said:

"We were on the roof of this motel when it started cracking all to pieces.

"Mother said, 'Michael, get hold of Paul.' I tried to grab my brother but he was too far away..."

"It just seemed like a dream to me."

Swept away by a 15-foot wall of water were Mike's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Johnson, and the couple's five other children, ranging in age from 5 to 14.

Search parties probing along a normally dry creek in Sanderson Canyon recovered the bodies of all but Johnson.

He is among 11 persons listed as missing.

"We can assume only that all are dead," said Terrell County Sheriff Bill Cooksey.

Officials have counted 15 dead and 35 injured from the storm, which devastated the southern section of Sanderson, a railroad center of 2,350 about midway between San Antonio and El Paso.

Ten of the known victims were children.

Cooksey said the search would continue "as long as there is any hope of recovering the bodies."

Grief-torn families, aided by the Red Cross, Salvation Army and assorted military units, continued massive cleanup operations.

The sheriff's office said 54 homes, mostly low-cost frame dwellings, were destroyed. An additional 36 homes received major damage and 106 others had minor damage.

The office said 244 families sustained losses, 13 trailer homes were destroyed, and 27 small businesses were damaged.

Although no official damage estimate exists, U. S. Rep. Richard White of El Paso estimated losses at $2 million.

Walgreen Drug Store Manager

DENNIS A. SORGE

Emphasizing the creed of being "dependable health headquarters," Dennis A. Sorge, manager of the new Walgreen Drug Store which opened at the Kingston Plaza this morning remarked concerning the enthusiasm which shoppers of the area had evidenced in the new store.

With the Walgreen organization since 1955, Sorge came to Kingston from Paramus, New Jersey to manage the new modern store. "We're a saving center featuring outstanding bargains throughout the store every day," he said, "but our first responsibility is to the community we serve."

The local manager revealed that the prescription department of Walgreen's stocks over 5,000 different pharmaceuticals. "We carry all of the standard drug items, as well as a great many of those less frequently prescribed, so that we can promptly fill virtually every prescription brought to us."

Shoppers at the new Walgreen's can browse through more than 160 feet of drug and cosmetic wall displays, presenting thousands of health and beauty needs. Among nationally-known names, the new store features the famed line of Walgreen products made in the firm's drug and cosmetic manufacturing labcratory in Chicago.

In the cosmetic department, Walgreen's offer cosmeticians who are ready to give friendly counsel on make-up and complexion care questions. Other items found in the store include tape recorders, men's shirts, sandals for the entire family, girl's pajamas, auto accessories, gardening needs, lawn lounges, and furniture — to mention a few of the many items.

"Our aim," said Manager Sorge, "is to make shopping convenient and comfortable, to give our customers the finest of drugs and pharmacy service, and a wide variety of quality merchandise at money-saving prices every day."

"And, of course, said Sorge, "everything is guaranteed . . . . that's the Walgreen policy. We're proud of our merchandise, our service, and our prices . . . . but we're prouder still of happy, satisfied customers."

Set Baccalaureate Service for SHS Graduates June 20

The Baccalaureate service for the high school graduates will be held under the auspices of Saugerties Area Council of Churches Sunday, June 20 at 7:30 p. m., in Saugerties Reformed Church.

The seniors will be ushered into the sanctuary of the church by two representatives of the Junior Class. Following the seniors in the procession will be the combined choirs of the participating area churches, the members of the clergy, and the church officers.

The combined choirs will sing two selections for the service under the direction of Howard Houghtaling, organist and choir director at the Reformed Church. The two selections will include "With a Voice for Singing" by Shaw and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Wilhowski.

The baccalaureate address will be delivered by the Rev. Neven B. Webster of Coxsackie. He has chosen to speak on the subject "Strong Sons of God."

Churches participating in this service include: The Atonement Lutheran Church, First Congregational Church, Glasco Methodist Church, Saugerties Methodist Church, Malden Methodist Church, Quarryville Methodist Church, Centerville Methodist Church, Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion, Flatbush Reformed Church, Saugerties Reformed Church, High Woods Reformed Church, Blue Mountain Reformed Church, Katsbaan Reformed Church, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, and Trinity Episcopal Church.

C of C to Meet On Tuesday Night

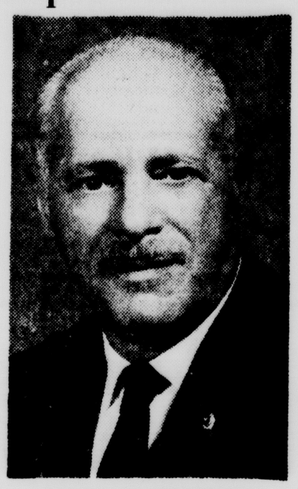

The new state sales tax which will be levied starting Aug. 1 and this year's Miss Saugerties Pageant will prime topics of discussion at the Tuesday 8 p. m. meeting of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce in the Saugerties Savings Bank meeting rooms, Market Stret.

No meetings will be held in July and August.

Executive Secretary Alfred R. MacMullen will have all information available on the new sales tax. Members will be allowed to ask questions about the topic.

The Miss Saugerties Pageant will be held Saturday, Sept. 18. Patron tickets will be mailed out in July.

Supervisor Will Address Township Republican Club

PETER M. WILLIAMS

One of the most prominent Republicans in Ulster County, Supervisor Peter M. Williams, who is also town GOP chairman, will be the guest speaker Thursday, June 24 at 8 p. m. at the Town of Saugerties Republican Club meeting to be held in the 10th Election District, at Mt. Marion Inn.

Supervisor Williams, who last year served as chairman of Ulster County Board of Supervisors, will report to the club on a recent meeting of the Town Republican Committee and also on a meeting of the County GOP Committee held June 12 at Kingston.

Interesting developments in the Republican organization will be the topic of the meting.

The Republican Club has held open meetings in the various districts as an aid to the Town Republican Committee composed of committeemen from each district. Williams is chairman of the oficial Town Republican Committee despite attempts to oust him made by Austin Simmons, local developer.

It was emphasized that this meeting and the Republican Committee meeting called by Supervisor Williams on June 9 are not to be confused with a meeting called by committeemen scheduled at the VFW Hall on Tuesday, June 15.

"The June 15th meeting of the Simmons dominated action at VFW Hall is an offshot of the secret meeting held at the old Simmons Dairy building on partition Street and is designated to present a slate of delegates numerically capable of unseating Supervisor Peter Williams and replacing him and his supporters with controlled individuals favoring special interests for the developers," a spokesman of the Republican Club stated.

In announcing the meeting on June 24th, the spokesman emphasized," that no culb, power group, or any other organization has a right to select delegates to the Ulster County Convention other than the entire Town Committee at a meeting called for this purpose by Town Chairman Peter Williams."

The meeting at the Mount Marion Inn is open to all interested Republicans. A social hour will follow the meeting.

W. Camp Church Sets Strawberry Festival Thursday

The annual strawberry festival and lawn social of the historic St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church at West Camp will be held on the church grounds, Route 9-W, Thursday beginning at 5 p. m.

West Camp Auxiliary is in charge of the serving trays which will provide a complete picnic dinner cafeteria style and the feature, strawberry shortcake or strawberries and ice cream.

No reservations are required. In the event of rain the serving will be in the parish hall.

SHS Class of '40 Slates Reunion Saturday, July 10

Saugerties High School Class of 1940 is completing plans for its class reunion Saturday, July 10 at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W.

Members of the class have been contacted, as well as students taking a five year course offered at that time. An invitation is extended to all members of the class who did not graduate. They should contact Robert Finger, 10 Prospect Street, for information.

It is requested by the committee that all members mail in their questionaires as this information is necessary for the completion of the program.

The committee has been unable to contact William Hrabar and Hazel Drake. Any information regarding these people would be greatly appreciated.

HOLY NAME COMMUNION BREAKFAST —The annual corporate Mass and Communion breakfast of St. Mary of the Snow Holy Name Society was held Sunday. The breakfast was served following the 8 a. m. Mass. The Rev. Charles J. Koerber, CSsR, professor of dogmatic theology at Mt. Saint Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus, was the guest speaker. Principals gathering here are (l-r) seated, Joseph Di Domenico, outgoing president; Father Koerber, who is assistant dean and registrar at the seminary; Louis Spada, vice president; standing, Harold Wilsey, breakfast chairman, and Robert Schnell, incoming president. Local Democratic Women Organize

A women's Democratic club for the Town of Saugerties was organized last week and officers elected at a meeting.

The newly formed Saugerties Democratic Women elected Mrs. Helen Martocci of Pine Grove, president; Mrs. Eleanor Nichols, Village, vice president; Mrs. Lucille Sullivan, Village, secretary, and Mrs. Adele Cook, Village, treasurer.

Named to the executive board were Mrs. Amanda Michaels of Malden; Mrs. Clara Hill and Mrs. Jean Seither, both of the village.

Women of the Town of Saugerties interested in the organization are invited to attend the next meeing o be held Tuesday, June 22 at 8 p. m. in C. A. Lynch Fire Hall, Theodore Place, Saugerties.

Kenneth Blundell, town Democratic chairman will be the speaker. Democratic women from nearby communities will also be in attendance.

The aim of the club is to formulate and carry out a community program and promote the interests of the Democratic Party of Saugerties, Mrs. Martocci said.

Accord Boy Injured When Hit By Auto

Ronald Williams Jr., 6, of Accord, was injured at 6:45 p. m. Sunday when he was hit by a car as he was walking across Route 209 near his home at Stone Ridge. The boy was taken to Benedictine Hospital suffering abrasions of the back and face and a cerebral concussion.

State Police BCI Investigator Charles Teelon said William Geiger, 37, of Staatsburg, was driving his 1964 car north on the highway when the boy darted in front of the vehicle about three miles south of the Route 209-213 intersection.

Seven Inducted

Seven men were recently inducted into the U.S. Army by local selective service boards and were forwarded to the reception center at Fort Dix, N. J.

They were: Arthur L. Casey, 2 Hilton Place; Robert D. Haslam, 52 Ravine Street; Alfredo N. Cortes, Puerto Rico; Anthony R. McAteer, Church Street, Marlboro; William L. Brackett, 100 Livingston Street, Saugerties; David N. Waterman, Parish Lane, Lake Katrine, and Salvatore R. Ferrine Jr., Box 616, Glasco.

Car Overturns

Donald McDonald, 53, of Sloatsburgg, was injured at 12:30 a. m. Sunday, when his car veered off Route 28 and overturned. Trooper Robert Mackey of the Kingston substation said McDonald, who sustained lacerations of the left ear and shoulder, told troopers glaring headlights of an oncoming car caused him to lose control of his automobile.

Ancient City Council Elects New Officers

Election and installation of officers of Ancient City Council No. 21, Royal and Select Masters was held at the recent annual summoned assembly at the Masonic Temple, Kingston.

Officers installed were Ralph H. Hayner, illustrious master; Norman Swibold, deputy master; Donald Bowra, principal conductor of work; George E .Radcliffe, treasurer; Lewis G. Richardson, recorder; Raymond B. Cord, chaplain; William D. Markle, captain of the guard; Walter A. Lawrence, conductor of the council; Sidney E. Friar, steward and Chester H. Bonesteel, sentinel.

Philip E. Kearney was installed as trustee for three years. Other trustees are Claude Gorseline and Leslie S. Lyons.

Election and installation was conducted by Paul Jones.

High Falls Driver Held After Mishap

Robert Snyder, 36, Route 1, Box 190A, High Falls, was injured and later summoned by State Police on a charge of driving a car at a speed not reasonable or prudent, following an accident at 5:45 p. m. Saturday on Route 32 near Bloomington.

Trooper Robert Mackey said Snyder was driving south on the highway when his car failed to negotiate a left curve, left the pavement and hit a barn after knocking down several guard posts. Trooper Robert Houghtaling of the Kingston substation, who investigated, said Snyder was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for lacerations of the head.

Snyder was removed to the hospital by Doctor's ambulance.

Beacon Man Is Held for Murder In Shotgun Death

A 34-year-old Beacon dye worker is in the Dutchess County jail today awaiting a hearing Wednesday on a charge of first degree murder, accused of the Saturday night shotgun slaying of a co-worker.

Police Chief Samuel Wood told The Freeman that John Bullard, 34, of 78 Ferry Street, that city, is accused of shooting Joel Wright, 24, same address, in the left eye. Bullard was booked on the murder charge.

The defendant was arraigned at 2 a. m. Sunday before City Judge Thomas Lynch. The case was adjourned until Wednesday at the request of Assistant District Attorney John Heilman.

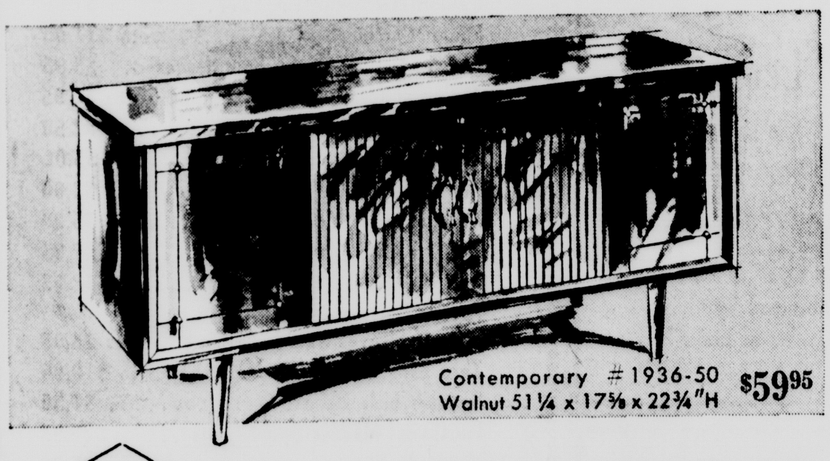

Chief Wood said that Bullard and Wright had an argument late Saturday night in Bullard's room. Wright, authorities said, allegedly told Bullard—who has one eye—that he would "shoot out the other light (eye)" according to Wood. Bullard, the chief said, went across the street to his car and returned with a shotgun.

Bullard met Wright on the sidewalk in front of the Ferry Street address, Wood said. The argument continued and Bullard, police reported, shot Wright in the eye, killing him instantly.

Chief Wood said, Patrolman John Light was on patrol in Bank Square when he heard the shot. He investigated and a boy ran up to him and told him a man had been shot. Light ran to a police call box and notified headquarters he was investigating a shooting.

Light hurried to Ferry Street and saw Wright lying on the sidewalk. Bullard, the chief said, was standing over the dying man holding the shotgun in his hand. At gunpoint, Bullard was disarmed without incident.

A GUEST WHO BECOMES OBNOXIOUS

Q: A friend of mine gave a large party at her house last week. One of the men guests arrived a little under the weather and proceeded to become more so as the evening progressed. He was quite obnoxious and I could see the hostess was very upset. In a case such as this, doesn't a hostess have every right to ask a guest to leave? In my opinion, when a guest ceases to act like a gentleman he should cease to be treated as one. I would appreciate your comments on this.

A: A hostess not only has a right, but even a duty to her other guests to ask one who has become obnoxious to leave.

When Pouring Coffee

Q: I have a friend who, whenever she serves coffee, always pours a little of it in her own cup first before filling the cups of her guests. When I questioned this, I was told that it is the proper thing to do, the reason being that should there be any loose coffee grinds, the hostess would get them in her cup rather than her guests. I never heard of this. Will you please tell me if this is correct procedure?

A: No it is not generally accepted procedure, yet it seems to me that if there is a possibility of coffee grounds at the start of pouring (not uncommon in percolators) the considerate hostess could hardly be censured for pouring a small portion into her own cup first.

The Ushers' Boutonnieres

Q: I would like to know if it would be proper for the ushers at my wedding to wear pink carnations. The bridesmaids are wearing pink and will carry pink flowers and I thought it would be nice if the ushers wore pink flowers too. Will you please tell me what you think of this?

A: Pink carnations would not be in good taste. For a wedding, the boutonnieres should be white.

IN SUPPORT OF FEATHERED VERTEBRATES—A benefit dinner party was given Sunday, June 13th at Watson Hollow Inn, West Shokan, N. Y., for the Ulster County SPCA. The general theme was "Birds of a Feather Flock Together." Table settings using bird motifs and names of popular Broadway shows were on display. Titles of such hits as "Hello, Dolly," "Sound of Music," and "Mary Poppins," were used. Dorothy A. Narel, left, and Mary Margaret McBride, enjoyed the fact they were pictured, quite unintentionally, at the table marked "The Odd Couple." Mrs. Narel is Society Editor of The Freeman and Miss McBride is a national radio and TV personality who broadcasts from her home for WGHQ. Hostesses for Sunday's benefit were Clare Kearney of Watson Hollow Inn, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maust of Woodstock, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Petz, Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. David Bright, Saugerties; Miss Ella Freer, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Stouffer, Cornwall; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Sterling, Poughkeepsie. A fair and rummage sale for the SPCA Shelter will be held June 17 and 18 at the parish house of St. Gregory's Church, Route 212, Woodstock. (Freeman photo by John Kruh)

Frances B. Grafe Exchanges Marriage VowsWithCuddeback

It has been announced that Mrs. Frances B Grafe of Bloomington and M. Llewellyn Cuddeback of Woodstock were married at the Woodstock Reformed Church on June 4, 1965.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Donald Hicks.

Attendants were Gale Grafe, daughter of the bride, and Gary Cuddeback, son of the bridegroom.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Cuddeback was continuity director of WGHQ. Her husband, who came to Kingston three years ago as salesmanager of Parsons Ford, was named vice president of Par-Gar, Inc., at Glens Falls, N. Y., the parent organization of the Parsons Chain of Ford Dealerships.

Mr. and Mrs. Cuddeback will make their home at 378 Ridge Road, Glens Falls, N. Y.

Greene-Gabriele Wedding Is Announced

Miss Arlene Nancy Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Greene Sr., of Catskill, N Y.., and Ronald Francis Gabriele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gabriele of Athens,, N. Y. exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony on June 5, 1965 at 1 p. m. in St. Patrick's Church, Athens, N. Y. The Rev. Father Vaughn was the officiating clergyman.

Theresa Del Vecchio was organist and Peg Hussey, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk mist posed over bridal taffeta. The bouffant skirt was chapel length and featured accents of lace. A silk illusion veil was held by a double coronet of seed pearls. The bride carried white roses and carnations.

Marilyn Keppel of Catskill, N. Y., was the maid of honor. She wore a peau gown in candy pink with belled skirt, a stylized headpiece of marquisette leaves with fly-away veil, and carried a cascade of turquoise carnations.

Mary Ann Gabriele of Athens, N. Y., sister of the bridegroom, Marylyn Travis of Valhalla, N. Y., Caroline Quinion, Amsterdam, N. Y., and Martha Overbaugh of Saugerties, N. Y., were the attendants. They wore radiant blue gowns styled identically to that of the honor attendant's. They carried cascades of pink carnations.

Dorothy Ann Hoyt of Maplecrest, N. Y., cousin of the bride, served as flower girl in a pink nylon lace ensemble. She carried pink and turquoise carnations.

Michael Gabriele of Athens, N. Y., cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushering were William Greene, Catskill, N. Y. brother of the bride, James Dorr, Baldwinsville, N. Y., Gary Clark, Morris, N. Y., and Brian Whiteman of Athens. Stephen Hoyt, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

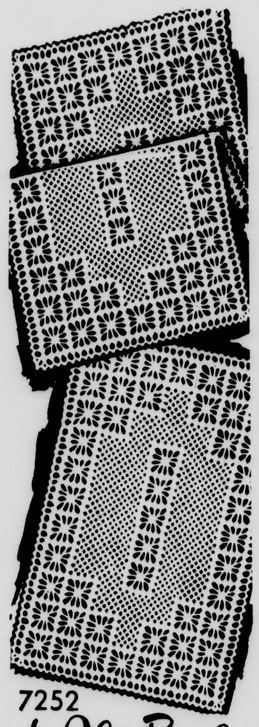

A reception for 150 guests was given in Pleasant View Lodge, Freehold, N. Y.

The bride, a graduate of Catskill High School and Cobleskill Agricultural and Technical Institute ,is a member of Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society, Alpha Lambda Phi Sorority, and was formerly bookkeeper with A. B. Dick Co. Inc., in Albany.

Mr. Gabriele is an alumnus of Coxsackie - Athens Central School, Brockport State University and is a member of the Varsity Club. He is a physical education teacher for the Kingston City School System.

When Mr. and Mrs. Gabriele return from their wedding trip, they will reside on Leggett Road, Stone Ridge, N. Y.

Barry Would Let Military Do Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican candidate for president, says President Johnson should let the military run the Vietnamese war.

"I think the President should start being the president and stop trying to be the general... let the military run he show," he said Sunday on NBC's radio-television "Meet the Press" program.

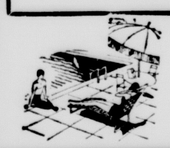

The former Arizona senator also said he doesn't believe nuclear weapons are necessary in Viet Nam and that he wouldn't "engage our ground forces in any large-scale action" if he were president.

Tony Awards Are Made on Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Zero Mostel gestured toward heaven, addressed "Lieber Gott" (Dear God) and made most of his acceptance speech in Yiddish Sunday night after he received a Tony Award from the American Theater Wing for his starring role, as a man who talks directly to God, in "Fiddler on the Roof."

The hit Broadway musical, based on stories by the late Sholem Aleichem about Jewish life in a tiny Russian village long ago, figured in nine of the 20 Tony Award categories, including best musical play of the recent season.

Newcomer Liza Minelli, 19, daughter of Judy Garland, was the veteran Mostel's counterpart as best female musical star. She won a Tony for her first Broadway role, a brash 1930s American communist, in "Flora, the Red Menace."

"The Subject was Roses," a drama about a loveless Bronx couple whose son returns from the Army, was named best play of the season. The play also won this year's Pulitzer Prize and Drama Critics Circle Award.

Walter Matthau, who sets up housekeeping with Art Carney, a fellow remnant of divorce, in "The Odd Couple," won a Tony as best dramatic actor. Irene Worth, who played Miss Alice in Edward Albee's controversial drama, "Tiny Alice," which has closed, was awarded the best dramatic actress Tony.

Linda Jo Grossman, John Pershing Hunter Take Their Marriage Vows in Albany

Miss Linda Jo Grossman, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. Bernard Grossman, 63 So. Manning Blvd, Albany, and John Pershing Hunter, son of the Rev. and Mrs. C. Pershing Hunter, 29 Pearl Street, Kingston, were married in Trinity Methodist Church, Albany, on June 12, 1965.

The bride's father performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by the father of the bridegroom, minister of St. James Methodist Church, Kingston. A reception in Parish Hall followed.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin peau with a round neckline and a modified bell skirt. The gown featured a detachable chapel train. Her headpiece of a satin peau pillbox trimmed with seed pearls held her French silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis and stephanotis.

Miss Jacqueline Kunkle, of Belvidere, New Jersey, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Grossman, the bride's sister, and Miss Elizabeth Hunter, the bridegroom's sister. All wore gowns of floor length light aqua crystal taffeta with round necklines and modified bell skirts. They wore matching bow headpieces with veils and carried miniature yellow carnations in a baskette type bouquet.

Richard Schisler of Poughkeepsie was the best man. Ushers were Peter Minasian and Robert Cloonan, both of Kingston.

The bride is a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, West Virginia. Mr. Hunter is a senior at West Virginia Wesleyan College.

The couple will reside at 107 South Kanawha Street, Buckhannon, West Virginia, after June 20th.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

No doubt in time before August 19, 1965 when the Fulton stamp will be serviced at our Central Kingston Post Office, much will be written on Fulton. Sometime ago I bought a book called Robert Fulton, by Alice Crary Sutcliffe, the great-granddaughter of Robert Fulton. She also wrote "Robert Fulton and the Clermont." This book was written in 1925, which I have. Robert Fulton's family came to America from Kilkenny, Ireland about 1730. Two daughters were born, Elizabeth and Isabella when they lived in their first home in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Fulton's father was the secretary of the Union Fire Co., and a charter member of the Juliana Library. In 1763 Fulton's father signed the charter for the town library, the third to be established in the American colonies. In 1765 Mr. Fulton sold his Lancaster home and moved his family to a farm of more than 300 acres on Conowingo Creek, in Little Britain Township, some 65 miles from Philadelphia, but still near enough to Lancaster so he could visit his old neighbors.

In my book of 1925, Alice Crary Sutcliffe, the great-granddaughter writes that the plastered stone farmhouse to which the Fulton family moved is still standing. It has a wide sloping roof which shelters the two-story building and overhangs a porch. The ground slopes to the Conowingo Creek. The low-ceiled parlors remained as they were, and the upper bedrooms with their broad window sills of great age. Even the fireplace of the old-time kitchen was also unchanged in 1925, with the sturdy crane swinging in the shadows where Mrs. Fulton hung her kettle to boil. In this house Robert Fulton was born, Nov. 14, 1765.

No doubt our local school system is busy with the end of the season, but otherwise might have studied the life of Fulton at this time. Robert was the first son, and it was not long before his father died. At first Robert Fulton studied at home, under his parents' teaching, until he was eight years old. He later went to a Quaker school, run by a Caleb Johnson, although Robert had learned to read and write at home. Young Fulton did not get along with his teacher, and found school dull, as he was more interested in machine shops around town. Once, when the teacher beat him, Fulton replied: "Sir, I came here to have something beaten into my brains, and not into my knuckles." At another time the teacher complained to Mrs. Fulton that "Robert says his head is so full of original ideas that there is no room in his brain to store away the contents of dusty books." He already had two interests, the study of machinery and study of art, and he event went so far as to make his own lead pencils, and he could sketch parts of machinery in various shops of the village and made himself so useful to the mechanics that they welcomed his visits. His great-granddaughter adds: "Like many another famous man, it should be noted that Fulton did not enjoy the advantages of a liberal education in his youth." . . . "In fact, Fulton was a student throughout his entire life."

In the coming weeks before August 19, 1965, those who are interested in stamps, and perhaps even have some of the 1909 two-cent Hudson-Fulton stamps will display them. Cachet covers, or illustrated envelopes will be stamped in Kingston. I understand with the First Day Issue post office stamp and special people will be employed for this work. I have designed some cachet covers, in colors and plain line drawings for this event, which I can show to those who are interested.

A SHILLING: This expression is probably traceable to English money. A shilling is sometimes referred to as a hog. Thus one willing to spend a whole shilling is willing to "go the whole hog."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Funny thing happened to Bob Hope at Whittier College last weekend. He was awarded the degree of doctor of humane letters.

Now he can be billed in academic circles as Leslie Townes Hope, L.H.D. (3), Litt. D., Ll.D. Not bad for a fellow who says he faded out of college after his first semester.

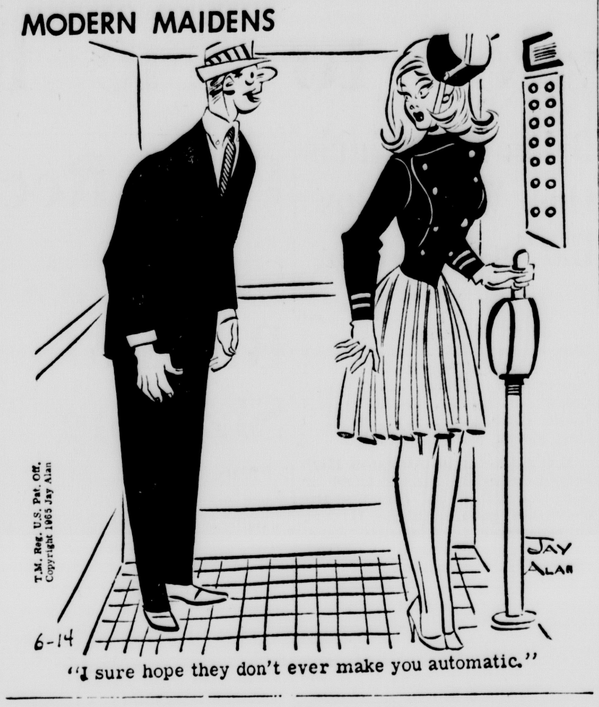

Whittier College, most noted for having given Richard M. Nixon to the nation, cited the famed dropout for "his dedicated service to his nation and his support of Southern California cultural activities, including the Music Center and the new Los Angeles County Museum." Hope was a hefty donor to both.

Honorary doctorates are getting to be a habit with Hope. Last week he traveled to Monmouth College, N.J., for another doctor of humane letters. The University of Wyoming made him a doctor of laws last year. He got another L.H.D. from Georgetown University when his son, Tony, graduated from there in 1962. Quincy College, Ill., made him a doctor of letters in 1958, when John F. Kennedy was also honored.

As the audience at Whittier learned last Saturday, Hope delivers a commencement speech that is far from the norm for such rituals.

Some of his comments:

"This degree is an act of great courage — and a body blow to higher education. Doctor of humane letters — that sounds like a veterinarian. I feel as out of place as a five-letter word at the University of California."

"I sure hope they don't ever make you automatic."

IBM Announces New Promotions

ALBERT H. RAYMOND JR.

The appointment of Albert H. Raymond Jr. of Stone Ridge to product engineering manager at the IBM Systems Development laboratory at Kingston has been announced by Maurice A. Every, laboratory manager.

In his new position, Raymond will direct all product engineering activity at the Systems Development laboratory at Kingston. This includes providing product engineering support to the IBM System Manufacturing and Field Engineering divisions for all products manufactured at IBM Kingston. It also includes the engineering activity necessary to meet performance specifications, functional changes and development of new features.

Raymond joined IBM in April, 1947, as an engineering trainee at Endicott. In early 1948, he was transferred to Poughkeepsie as a machine designer in product engineering and was named technical enginer in 1951. He became a project engineer in product engineering later that year.

In February 1955, he was appointed senior engineer in SAGE product design at the Kingston plant and in August 1958, he was named manager of SAC/SAGE engineering. He was named manager of command and control engineering at Kingston in July 1960, and program manager in that area in early 1961.

He was named manager, military systems engineering, in June, 1964.

He was appointed to engineering manager for time-sharing systems in December, 1965, a post he held until the present.

Raymond received a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from Northeastern University, Boston, Mass. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and the Rondout Valley Lion's Club.

Raymond, his wife Rosemarie and children Betsy Ann, Cynthia, Susan, Bradley, Christopher and Jonathan reside in Stone Ridge.

C. K. HOWE

The appointment of C. K. Howe, of Rhinebeck as manager of planning and controls at the IBM Systems Development laboratory at Kingston has been announced by Maurice A. Every, laboratory manager.

Howe will be responsible for directing the function for planning and control coordination at the Kingston laboratory. This includes the evaluation of the technical content of laboratory plans with respect to overall divisional objectives of product and technical superiority.

Howe joined IBM in 1953 at Poughkeepsie as an engineering change analyzer on the Air Force A1A bombing-navigation system project. He was transferred to early SAGE computer development as a technical engineer and was named an associate engineer in the printed circuit laboratory at Kingston in mid-1955. He was named a project manager in late 1955 and an administrative assistant in engineering administration the following year. Two years later he was named a development engineer in SAGE product engineering and, in early 1960, manager of Project "Mercury" subsystems.

In early 1963, he was named special projects engineering manager at Kingston, a post he has held until his present appointment.

Howe is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers. He attended Wright Junior College and Oklahoma A&M.

Howe, his wife, Margaret, and children Bruce, Brian, and Pamela reside on Old Post Road, Rhinebeck.

DR. WILLIAM J. CADDEN

The appointment of Dr. William J. Cadden of Poughkeepsie to advanced engineering manager at the IBM Systems Development laboratory at Kingston has been announced by Maurice A. Every, laboratory manager.

In his new position, Dr. Cadden will be responsible for advanced technology, reliability and serviceability, machine technology, patent engineering and technology planning at the IBM Systems Development laboratory at Kingston.

Dr. Cadden joined IBM at Poughkeepsie in November, 1958, as a staff engineer and member of the technical planning committee in the Data Systems Division. He was named exploratory systems and logic manager in April, 1959. One year later, he was promoted to communications engineering and planning manager at the Poughkeepsie and Kingston development laboratories.

In February 1964, he was appointed technical assistant to the manager of engineering and manufacturing in the IBM Industrial Products Division, a post he has held until his present appointment.

Dr. Cadden received his Phd in electrical engineering from Princeton University, a master of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Illinois, and a bachelor of science degree in physics from the University of Illinois.

He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers, Eta Kappa Nu, honorary engineering fraternity, Sigma Xi, and the Research Society of America.

Dr. Cadden, his wife Valerie and children Gail Dianne, and William Scott reside at 67 Round Hill Road, Poughkeepsie.

FROM CANTON TO BRUSSELS

Twenty years ago, a prominent Chinese merchant escaped from Canton and came to New York. He brought with him only a small part of his considerable wealth. The Communists took the rest of it.

After landing here, he made a deep study of America's economic system. He interviewed a dozen leading bankers and industrialists. When his feet were on the ground, he started buying common stocks.

Recently, I asked him to write down the names of a half-dozen of his favorites. They are: General Motors, Royal Dutch, Boeing, Bethlehem Steel and Westinghouse.

Down in Bermuda, there is a unique investment club. It has 20 members. All are leading junior executives there. Each contributes $100 a month to the fund and thus, in a year, the club has about $25,000 to invest.

The president of the club is a Chartered Accountant. He is a graduate of a leading American university and he went to Oxford for a year.

What kind of investments does this club buy? The "blue-chips" of America. Recently, I spent several hours with them discussing investment policies.

Thirty years ago, I met here in New York a diamond merchant from Brussels, Belgium. I introduced him to the senior partner of a New York Stock Exchange firm. I see him frequently.

Today, more than half of his considerable fortune is invested in prime American common stocks. The social, political, and economic stability has caused him to take up permanent residence in the United States. He spends about three months every year in Brussels.

There is a great and growing international demand for prime American common stocks. Travel helps to deepen and broaden an investor's vision. Today, in America, we have too many provincial dollar owners.

Right here in New York City, there is a widow, age 72 (or more), who has over $200,000 in banks. She is afraid to leave the money there; she is afraid to take it out. She has been in this dilemma for over 15 years.

When the Dow-Jones industrial averages were 450, she thought good stocks were too high. And now that the average is 900, she is flabbergasted.

She is one of the many hundred-thousand-dollar holders who have more than $500,000,000,000 in commercial banks, savings and loan associations, savings banks, and money—almost literally speaking — under their mattresses!

Currency in circulation today totals about $50,000,000,000. If one could get accurate statistics on what portion of this vast sum of money has a deeply-rooted psychological base, what a story could be written! A lot of this money is "hot" money—cash income that its owners earn without paying taxes.

Thousands of potential American investors might well learn a lesson from people from Canton, Bermuda, and Brussels.

Pigeons Help Put MotherThrough School

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Pigeons helped put a working mother through college and they may help her win a master's degree.

Marjorie Gleason graduated this spring in Florida Atlantic University's first class as a bachelor of ars in humanities. She paid for gasoline used commuting between her Opa-locka home, near Miami, and Florida Atlantic in Boca Raton, 30 miles north, by carrying caged racing pigeons in the trunk of her car and releasing them on campus for training flights back to Opa-locka.

The brown-haired, brown-eyed housewife is shooting now for her master's and has lined up another pigeon-ferrying deal to pay commuting expenses.

Mrs. Gleason said she "just had to finish college—20 years and six children after attending Flint, Mich., Junior College."

She and her husband, Ralph H., came from Flint to Opa-locka when Gleason was assigned there as a Marine Corps aviator during the Korean War.

Grandchildren Graduate

WURTLAND, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Cochran had reason to be happy at graduation exercises at Wurtland High School.

Among the graduates were three of her grandchildren, all from different families.

For cousins Donna Rose Enyart, James Robert Hayes and James Thomas Cochran, it was not the end of their scholastic togetherness. All plan to attend the same college.

Rhubarb, Paper, Chilled Bones

Kingston Day at Shea Stadium Attracts All-Time Met Crowd

By Charles J. Tiano
(Freeman Sports Editor)

The principals who participated in the Old Timers Baseball Association Kingston Day at Shea Stadium Sunday had one overriding satisfaction.

They honored four topflight Mets and spoke before the largest crowd ever to watch a Mets ball game—57,175 screaming fans.

Along with 1500 other area fans they witnessed one of the most unruly demonstrations unleashed in a major league ball park this season . . . that second game rhubarb during which the carefully manicured Shea turf was littered with pounds of paper and trash.

Out or Safe

They joined lustily in the tremendous crescendo of boos and cries of "Kill the Umps", directed specifically at home plate Umpire Chris Pelekoudas, who called Johnny Lewis out on a bang-bang play in the sixth inning of the nightcap. The Kingston crowd to a man seemed to think Lewis was safe.

And those fans scattered around the mezzanine section were chilled to the marrow of their bones by the biting wind that came roaring out of Flushing Bay. The temperature never got over the 60-mark throughout the long 7-hour afternoon. Some of the weaker ones headed for the warmth of the buses before the second game was over and missed another classic demonstration of the Mets losing technique.

The presentation ceremonies at home plate, televised in color on the closed network of the Mets, went off without a hitch.

Nelson Is Emcee

Lindsay Nelson, of the Mets broadcasting team, the master of ceremonies, moved the program in brisk fashion. Manager Casey Stengel was a bit late and Mayor John J. Schwenk had to repeat his presentation of a scroll from the City of Kingston and Casey's Hall of Fame Pin and honorary life membership in the Old Timers Association.

Bernard A. Culloton honored his old Kingston Colonial teammate, John J. Murphy, vice president of the Mets; and John J. McCardle, OTBA president and the writer honored Yogi Berra and Warren Spahn, respectively.

Entertainers Click

Patrolman Dick Scherer, accompanied by accordianist Frank Speis, rocked the house with his renditions of "Hello Dolly" and the theme song from Exodus. The piece de resistance was furnished by the flashy Criterions Drum Corps of Kingston Post 150 American Legion, who drew tremendous applause for a dazzling 7-minute marching exercise.

It was, everything considered, the greatest baseball day in the history of the city. And the man most directly responsible for the super spectacular was John McCardle, the OTBA president. He saw a dream unfold before his eyes and he must have been the happiest man in that huge passionate, unruly and demonstrative crowd in beautiful Shea Stadium.

Football, Track Captains at KHS

Tackle Brooke Jenkins and quarterback Lou Perry will co-captain the football team, according to coach Bill Hurley.

The Case of the Lost Ducats

Approximately 10:30 Friday night, John J. McCardle, Old Timers president, received a frantic phone call.

The harried individual on the other end of the wire had a sad tale.

"We're in trouble, John," said the man. "Our tickets (38) for Kingston Day are locked in the Rondout National branch bank vault and it's under time clock and won't open until Monday morning."

"What'll we do, John?" the voice pleaded. "Just sit tight," replied McCardle, a man steeled to such emergencies.

What transpired in the next 24 hours set an all-time telephonic record between Kingston and Shea Stadium. The dilemma was solved and Mets officials graciously made special arrangements to seat the ticket-less Ulster contingent.

It may have been superfluous but McCardle unwittingly asked a Met official:

"What shall they do with the tickets in the bank vault?"

"Tell them to eat them," was the wry reply.

Kickers Score In Soccer, 6-3

Kingston Kickers scored a 6-3 Central New York Soccer league victory over the Poughkeepsie Blue and White Sunday.

After Poughkeepsie went ahead 3-1, the locals came from behind to score the win.

The Kickers have two games remaining. They go to Albany next Sunday and host the Albany Sons of Italy the following week. The Sport Club has concluded its season.

Plans are under way for the annual Mid-Hudson Valley soccer tournament. Eight top teams will compete for the Mid-Hudson Cup on Aug. 1.

North Winner

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The north has won the U.S. Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association All-Star Game thanks to a record nine-goal performance by Mike Annison of Williams College. The North beat the South 15-10 Saturday.

Herzog Construction	2	0

Schovel's Tree Service	2	1
Montgomery Ward	1	2
Lou's	0	1
Lions Club	0	1
Port Ewen Merchants	0	2

Brian Bach, the Kingston High school pitcher, had a hand in both victories, as Elmer's Inn won two games to tie Herzog Construction for the City Baseball League lead in weekend action at Dietz Stadium.

In Saturday's twi-nighter, Bach checked Lou's 8-4, on a 4-hitter with 11 strikeouts.

In Sunday's 7-6 squeaker over Montgomery Ward, Bach doubled Bill Dugan home with the tying run and scored the winner on Ed Mills' single.

Schovel's Tree Service edged the Lions Club, 11-10, with two runs on a wild pitch and passed ball in the third game of the weekend tripleheader.

McGowan Delivers

Frank McGowan singled Pete Watzka home to send Lions ahead, 10-9, in the top of the eighth, after each team scored four runs in the seventh to complete the regulation contest in a 9-9 deadlock.

Joe Schabot and Gene Stoutenberg were nicked for 12 hits by Ward's, including a two-run homer by Bill DuBois in the fifth inning. Schabot was the winner, with Tom Tegeler of Rondout losing on a 9-hitter. Bob Zaccheo, Ward's left fielder, rapped three singles and Tony Toney delivered a trio for Elmer's.

McGowan, the second Lions Club pitcher, was charged with the loss and Vince Smedes, normally a shortstop, survived a 10-hitter to win for Schovel's. Paul Natale, Chick Boice and Bob Beadle hit single-double combinations for Schovel's.

Johnny Nolan, in relief of Gene Rios, was tagged for the Lou's loss. Tom Primo and John Eccleston hit two singles each and John Crispino had a triple for Elmer's.

DIOMOND DUST: The first swing around the circuit has given evidence this is the best City League in the post-war period . . . League scorer Robert Millham reports that the wrong losing pitcher was listed in the June 6 game between Montgomery Ward's and Schovel Tree Service. It should have been Bud Eckert and not Bill Botsakos.

Four Records Set in State Track Meet

Skowron's Big Bat Sizzling

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Dick Tracy cruising at full speed, Chicago's gangbusters stand a fighting chance of breaking the monopoly in the American League.

Tracy, as Bill Skowron is known because of his winter occupation, handcuffed the Wasington Senators 2-1 Sunday and steered the White Sox to within one-half game of first-place Minnesota.

Skowron tied the game with a home run in the seventh inning, then tripled across the winning run in the ninth.

The 34-year-old first baseman is in his first full season with the White Sox, having helped them to within one game of preventing the New York Yankees from capturing their fifth straight pennant last year.

After the grueling AL fight, Skowron and teammate Pete Ward went in for another kind of prevention. They joined a Chicago area detective agency.

Their primary assignment was selling the company's patrol service, but at times they also went on patrol duty, cruising around in a car complete with two-way radio hookup and flashing red light.

Leading Club

Skowron plans to return to his role of detective, but before he does he'd like to help the White Sox win the pennant. Right now he's hitting .289 and leads the team in runs batted in with 30 and home runs with seven.

In other AL games, Detroit edged Minnesota 5-4, New York blanked Los Angeles 3-0, Baltimore nipped Boston 1-0 and Kansas City defeated Cleveland 8-4 before losing 5-2.

Skowron's game-winning triple off Pete Richert followed Floyd Robinson's leadoff double. The first baseman's home run offset Don Lock's second-inning homer and ended Richert's string of 19 scoreless innings.

Hank Aguirre posted his seventh victory against two defeats although he needed ninth-inning relief aid from Mickey Lolich. Before he departed, though, Aguirre singled across the eventual deciding run in the seventh. Bob Allison's two-run homer in the Minnesota eighth made it close.

Pedro Ramos rescued Whitey Ford in the ninth inning and saved the Yankees' victory. Ford, now 6-6, permitted only one Angel as far as second base. The Yankees scored all of their runs in the fourth inning, two on a bases-loaded single by Hector Lopez.

John Orsino brought home Brooks Robinson with a sacrifice fly in the fifth for Baltimore's only run. Milt Pappas picked up his first triumph in nearly a month with one-pitch relief help from Stu Miller in the ninth. With two on and one out, Miller got Boston's Tony Conigliaro to hit into a game-ending double play.

The Athletics won the opener with five runs in the seventh inning, three on Ken Harrelson's homer and two on shortstop Dick Howser's error.

Chuck Hinton's leadoff homer in the second inning of the nightcap sparked a four-run Cleveland rally, helping Lee Stange pick up his first victory of the season. Rain cut the second game to 6½ innings.

Tweedy Ties KHS Mark in 880 With 1:58.1 Clocking

Four state marks and nine meet records were smashed Saturday at the New York State Public High School Athletic Assn. Intersectional track and field championships, held in Ithaca.

John Tweedy of Kingston tied a school mark in the 880 yard run. The junior ace finished sixth in the 880 but covered the distance in 1:57.1, tying the standard set in 1960 by Jim Sims.

Section 9 was fifth in the event with 20 points. Section 8 captured the meet for the fifth straight time with 75½ points.

Dennis Gurrant of Monroe-Woodbury successfully defended his broad jump title with a leap of 22 feet, 9 inches, well below his state mark of 24 feet, 2½ inches.

John Kinney of Port Jervis ran the mile in 4:15.2 to finish third.

State and meet marks were set in the 440 yard dash, shot put, pole vault and two-mile relay. Meet standards went in the 880, two-mile, discus and high jump.

Sectional scoring included section 8, 75½; section 1, 57; Section 11, 35½; Section 4, 25; Section 9, 20; Section 2, 17; Section 6, 15; Section 4, 3.

Sikes' 66 Clicks at Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Easy-going Dan Sikes knew what he was doing when he rolled in a 35-foot putt on the final hole to capture the $135,000 Cleveland Open Golf Championship.

"I had to make that putt . . . who wants to play off with Tony Lema?" the rangy Sikes quipped after he whipped Champagne Tony by one stroke Sunday.

The end came dramatically when Sikes, who hadn't won a tournament since the Doral, Fla., Open in 1963, sank his pressure putt from the edge of the 18th green.

It was his fifth birdie of the round and gave him a five-under par 66 on the Highland Park 6,821-yard layout.

Sikes, who started the final round three strokes back of the 31-year-old Lema, finished with a 72-hole total of 272 — 12 strokes under par.

Great Comeback

It was a great comeback for the 34-year-old Sikes, a non practicing attorney, whose best previous effort this year was a second place finish in the Los Angeles Open.

Lema, who failed in his bid to win a second straight Cleveland Open, also lost the $25,000 first prize, biggest purse on the tour this year.

Australia's Bruce Devlin, a consistent money-winner, kept the pressure on the leaders right to the end with a sizzling 65, best round of the tournament.

The 27-year-old Devlin, who putted brilliantly, started the day six strokes off the pace and wound up third with a 274.

Bert Weaver's 71 gave him 279 for fourth place while Mike Souchak, Julius Boros, Dick Sikes and Tommy Aaron deadlocked for fifth with 280s.

Other top finishers included Bob Rosburg with a 281 and Arnold Palmer, Randy Glover, Billy Maxwell and Gordon Jones with 282s.

Lions Club Tops Davenport, 4-1

George Botsakos hurled a one-hitter as the Lions Club beat Davenport, 4-1, in a Rondout Valley Babe Ruth league game.

Dennis Crookston's triple was the only extra base hit in the contest.

Vesper Crewmen Win Over Cornell

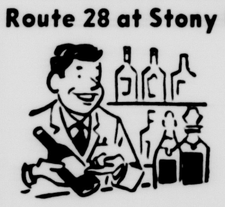

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Cornell University's previously undefeated lightweight crew was no match Saturday for the Olympic champion Vesper Boat Club as the Philadelphia eight-oared boat won the American-Henley Regatta on Lake Quinsigamond.

The Vesper crew covered the 2,000 meters in 6:07.8. Cornell was a tiring second, three lengths off the pace. Eliot House trailed the Big Red by two lengths and columbia was a distant fourth.

Spindletop Joe Wins in 2:03.4

MONTICELLO, New York, June 12—The fastest trot time of the season at Monticello Raceway materialized Saturday night when Spindletop Joe won the co-featured fourth race, a $5,000 invitational trot. Marcel Dostie, subbing for regular pilot Fred Bradbury was in the sulky to rein Spindletop Joe to a two length victory. The time of 2:03.4 was a full second better than the previous best trot time at the Mighty M and only one-fifth of a second off the national standard. In posting the win, Spindletop Joe paid $15.10, 6:30 and 3.10 across the board.

In the other co-feature of the evening, George Gilmour scored a neck decision with Bob Brook in 2:04. Under lease to the Faymar Stable of Mount Vernon, Bob Brook was sent to the front at the start and was never headed.

Jim Sprouse had Sterling Hodge up for second at the wire over favored Pocomoonshine, Lucien Fontaine driving. Bob Brook returned $6.80, $4.40 and $3.20 across the board.

The twin double returned a juicy $16,085.90. Winning numbers were 5 (Diller's Reward), 8 (Homing Pigeon), 6 (Our Adios) and 7 (Mr. Jones). There were three lucky ticket holders.

A crowd of $9,552 was on hand to wager $585,990.

Yanks, Tigers In Hurley Tie

Yankees forced a playoff for the first round of the Hurley Little League with a 4-1 triumph over the Tigers. The clubs will play Sunday, June 20, 2 p. m., at Saxe Feld, Route 28.

In other games, the Mets walloped the Red Sox, 10-6, and the Yanks beat the Dodgers, 6-4.

Glen Littlefield hurled a strong four-hitter for the Yankees. First baseman Steve Lupton had a home run and single for two of three hits allowed by loser Tim Whalen. Dick Hoffstatter doubled.

The Mets had a pair of four-run innings to defeat Bill Yaple and the Red Sox. Yaple aided his cause with a home run. Ken Wollner tripled and Rick Castaldo had a double.

A six-run rally in the third frame carried the Yankees over the Dodgers. Lupton homered in this tilt. Doubles were hit by Dave Kwasnowski, Bob Dolson and Tom Reynolds.

Set 5 Records In Section 8

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Five New York State high school track and field records were set Saturday as Section 8 of Nassau County won its 15th consecutive state championship.

The Nassau County athletes finished 23½ points in front of Section 1 of Westchester.

The new records were set in the high jump, pole vault, shot put, mile and 440 events.

Ray Smith of Chenango Valley cracked the mile record he set on the Cornell University track June 4. Smith ran the mile Saturday in 4:14.2, six-tenths of a second faster than he toured the oval in the district qualifying meet.

Only 34 Finish

Raby-Sheetz Capture Hudson River Race

Only 34 boats of the 71 starting the annual Hudson River Marathon completed the 131 mile race yesterday on the choppy Hudson River. High winds and tricky tides kicked up four-foot waves along the Albany to Edgewater, N.J. course

Donald Raby, a 35-year-old marina operator from Lansing, Mich. and Andy Sheetz, a 28-year-old sales engineer from Florham Park, N.J., shared honors for the day

Fifth at the halfway point in Poughkeepsie, the duo moved out in front when the leaders faltered at Haverstraw and when the Class JJ race finished, their 17-foot, white-hulled Dorsett was all alone at the finish, about five miles in front of a 17-foot Glastron, driven by Charles Scruggs and Charles Smith of Cincinnati

The hardest hit in the race, which was filmed from helicopters, planes and boats by the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) for future showing, were the radically designed "flying wings" of Class U.

None of these 70-m.p.h. airfoil craft finished. One sank, another ran aground and a couple of others had to be towed to various ports.

Boats began dropping out as early as Castleton, N.Y., six miles downriver from the start.

Of the four Kingston entrants, only one was able to finish. Robert Millet was fourth in Class E.

Warren Spinneweber was forced out near Albany. Gus Stopski and John Sherlock had misfortunes at Poughkeepsie and had to withdraw at that point.

Results:

Class U (Unlimited engine displacement)—Joseph Rainear and William Elliott, Trenton, 1:23.32; Peter Slovak and John Perras, Lake George, 2:38.35.

Class JJ (Unlimited engine displacement)—Donald Raby and Andy Sheetz, Lansing, Mich., 11:43.35; Charles Scruggs and Charles Smith, Cincinnati, 11:51.54; John Keller and Albert Kendall, Medway, Ohio, 11:53.54.

Class I (80-89.99 cubic inch)—Paul Dunn and William Reinhardt, Port Jefferson, L. I., 12:05.55; Don Lahale and Mike Remon, Marywood, Ill., 12:12.26; Robert Meyer and Ronald Davis, Westfield, N. J., 12:23.27.

Class H (70-79.99 cubic inch)—Theodore and Fred March, Gettysburg, Pa., 12:35.18; William Combs and William Atlaffer, Bucyrus, Ohio, 12:49.13; Steve Stepp and Milton Lester, Point South, Ohio, 1:04.12.

Class F (50-99.99 cubic inch)—Stan Stauffer and Gary Erwin, Mansfield, Ohio, 2:35.44; Reese DeLorenzo and Don McCormick, South Nyack, 12:40-20; Arthur Bean and Albro Tietjen, Walton, 12:52.24.

Class E (40-49.99 cubic inch)—Mile Quayle and Herman Hagemen, Huron, Ohio, 12:49.23; Frank Tilton and Larry Willis, St. Inigoes, Md., 1:11.53; Bill and Mike Downard, Bucyrus, Ohio, 1:16.16.

Wheelchair Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — The University of Illinois Gizz Kids, led by quadruple winner Tim Harris of Rockford, Ill., won the ninth annual National Wheelchair Games, which were completed Sunday.

Harris, a 21-year-old sophomore, won the 60-and 100-yard sprints, the javelin throw and the discus throw.

New York Teams Win Bowling Tourneys

NEW YORK (AP) — Regal Bowling Center of Brooklyn and Belmont-Plaza Hotel of New York won the handicap and scratch divisions, respectively, of the New York State Bowlers Proprietors' Association Men's Handicap Tournament Sunday.

Regal posted a 3104 total, with 486-pin allowance, while Belmont had 3052.

Bowlers from Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Rochester, Syracuse and Albany competed in the five weekends that the tournament lasted.

Sue Maxwell Wins Western Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — They're calling blonde Susie Maxwell, "Susie the Charger."

It's because of the way she took charge of the 36th annual Women's Western Golf Tournament Sunday.

Susie, 23, charged past Mrs. Marlene Hagge, the third-round leader, with a final round of 69 for a 72-hole medal of 290, the best score ever turned in at a W.W.G.A. event.

Mrs. Hagge, of Pensacola, Fla., who led Miss Maxwell, of Tulsa, Okla., by two strokes before the final round just shrugged her shoulders at the end of the day and asked:

"How in the heck do you better a 69? Anybody who shoots that well deserves to win."

Susie, who nailed down $1,500, blistered the front nine with a four-under-par 33. Mrs. Hagge encountered putting trouble and negotiated the front nine in 38, one over regulation.

Mrs. Hagge, who wound up with $1,200, finished with a 74 for a 293.

In third spot and winner of $1,000 in the $10,000 event, was Sandra Haynie, a 22-year-old Longview, Tex., native. Miss Haynie had a final round of 72 and a 297 total.

France Repeats In Zone Tennis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The European Zone Davis Cup tennis semifinal round is loaded with newcomers today after France, Spain, Czechoslovakia and South Africa advanced in weekend action.

Gonzalez Stars for Phillies

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Mauch, the explosive Philadelphia manager, doesn't throw spare ribs any more. Now he conducts lecture sessions at 9:30 in the morning.

The subject of Mauch's dissertation Sunday was lackadaisical play. The object of Mauch's displeasure was outfielder Tony Gonzalez.

And the result of Mauch's disciplinary action was a homer, double and single by Gonzalez that carried the Phillies to a 5-0 victory over Houston for their fifth straight triumph, lifting them to the .500 level for the first time in almost a month.

Mauch, who has been known to throw spare ribs around the clubhouse when he's fuming, has kept his temper all season long while the Phillies have languished in the second division. But Saturday Mauch had enough of Gonzalez' play and pulled him out in the middle of the game.

Then Sunday, Mauch and Gonzalez had their chat for what the Philadelphia manager termed failure "to execute four plays much less than his capabilities."

"He was right," admitted Gonzalez. "It was my fault. I just go out now and do my best."

He did it right away, leading off the first with a homer, tacking on the other two hits and raising his average to .298 while providing the only support Chris Short needed in subduing the Astros on five hits.

LA Stretches Lead

The Los Angeles Dodgers, meanwhile, stretched their National League lead to 3½ games over Milwaukee, defating the New York Mets 5-2 and 4-3 while the Braves split, beating St. Louis 4-2 before getting walloped 12-2 in a wild, rhubarb-punctuated second game.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs rapped Cincinnati 9-7 before the Reds took the nightcap 7-0 and Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 2-1.

The Dodgers put the opener out of reach with a four-run fourth-inning uprising keyed by Willie Davis' two-run single Claude Osteen, tagged for Ron Swoboda's 13th homer, got the victory for a 5-6 record with ninth-inning help from Bob Miller.

In the nightcap, the Dodgers overcame a 3-2 deficit in the ninth on a walk to Jim Gilliam, a sacrifice, Ron Fairly's run-scoring single and a double by Wally Moon that sent the Mets down to their 10th straight defeat.

The Braves snapped a 2-2 tie in the opener on Gene Oliver's two-run single in the eighth inning while Wade Blasingame completed a four-hitter against the Cardinals.

Eject Bragan

The Braves not only lost the nightcap but Manager Bobby Bragan and their starting battery—pitcher Hank Fisher and catcher Gene Oliver—in a series of ejections during the fourth inning as the Cardinals pushed across seven unearned runs.

Tim McCarver and Dick Groat each singled home two runs during the uprising as the Cardinals ended a four-game losing skid.

Rookie catcher Chris Krug and Ron Santo each hammered three-run homers while Billy Williams connected for a solo job in the Cubs' first-game victory.

The Reds came back to take the nightcap behind the hitting of Frank Robinson, who drove in three runs with a double and single in support of Joey Jay's five-hit pitching.

Vern Law pitched a three-hitter for the Pirates, winning his fifth straight, and scored the winning run on Bill Virdon's seventh-inning triple after collecting a single. Willie McCovey hit his 13th homer for the lone Giant run.

11 Records Broken In Two-Day Track Meet

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Eleven records were posted today in the books of the U.S. Track and Field Federation — notably a 3:56.4. mark for the mile run set by Bob Day of UCLA in the windup of the USTFF's two-night Bakersfield meet Saturday.

Day not only broke the national collegiate mark, 3:56.9, set by Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago in 1963, but also eclipsed the meet record of 4:02.2 by Cal Elmore of Wichita set in 1963.

Ed Dean of Notre Dame, 4:04.8, and Paul Schlicke, of Stanford, 4:06.4, chased the 20-year-old UCLA junior to the tape. Day's fractions were 58.5, 1:57 flat and 2:56.5.

Other meet records set in the two nights were in the hammer throw, discus, 220 and 440 dashes, 440 hurdles, 120 high hurdles, high jump, triple jump, and the three and six-mile runs.

Hulbert Scores Win at Onteora

Mert Hulbert showed the boys the short way around the half-mile Onteora Speedway Sunday night, winning the 25-lap feature event.

Gordon Coffman was the early leader, turning back the challenges of Hulbert through the early laps. Harold Montanye joined the front two in the battle as the three cars raced to the wire as a team.

Coming off the fourth corner, Coffman faltered and this let Hulbert through with Montanye right on his tail. The balance of the race saw this pair battle every lap of the way but Montanye couldn't catch the winner.

Ray Anderson finished third, followed by Coffman, Dick Hansen, Gene Temple, Gordon Aldrich and Art Gell.

The smashing sedans saw two feature winners in the night's activities. Doug Tyler took top honors in the first of the twin fifteen lap events with Ron Santosky second. The other sedan feature saw Cliff Scism score a feature win with Santosky again second.

Racing at the Speedway is held each Sunday with special events scheduled for Friday and Saturday during July and August.

Ernie Beesmer Accord Winner

Ernie Beesmer chalked up his third win of the season Sunday at Accord Speedway. He moved to the lead on the sixth lap and held it the rest of the way for top honors in the 5-lap feature.

Following the winner were Al Dymond, Eddie Harkins, Gordon Aldrich, Art Gell and Eric Gundberg.

Pat DeLeone grabbed the lead on the first lap and held it to the finish to win the first Sedan feature of the year.

John Lake made it two straight in the 10-lap novice race.

First heat—Stretch Van Steenberg, Ernie Beesmer, Dave Turene.

Second heat—Pete Keater, Art Gell, Clayton Barringer.

Feature — Ernie Beesmer, Al Dymond, Eddie Harkins, Gordon Aldrich, Art Gell, Eric Gundberg.

First heat—Doug Tyler, Pat DeLeone, Art Tyler.

Second heat—Jim Harbourne, Reggie Solcberg, Dave Williams.

Feature—Pat DeLeone, Doug Tyler, Jim Harbourne, Reggie Solcberg, Jim Glass.

Mulligan Wins Middletown Race

Whip Mulligan, driving the 8A was not to be denied in the 25-lap modified feature Saturday at Victory Speedway in Middletown.

Starting in the eighth spot, Mulligan worked his way into the 5th position the first time around. He took the lead on the fourth lap and never surrendered it.

Rags Carter, a fast closer was second, followed by Leon Manchester, Bob Rossell and Pee Wee Griffin.

Heat winners in the modifieds were Griffin, Wilson and Carter. Accidents were of a minor nature with the most spectacular coming in the first modified heat as the No. 666 was being lapped on the first turn by Sonny Strupp. The car hit on the inside of the turn and bounced into the path of No. 24.

John Henry and Dick Kaiser were the flathead winners. The feature in this division went to Butch Wood.

On Saturday night, the URC Sprint Cars will be on hand for a combination show.

Results:

Flathead heat — John Henry, Doc Norton, Dick Pendell, Ron Chase, Jack Zindema.

Funds for Library

Editor, The Freeman:

The Kingston City Library undoubtedly has inadequate funds provided for it in view of the many and varied services it performs for the community. This does not, however, justify the use of school tax monies to augment its income.

School taxes are levied upon all the property of the Consolidated School District — 45 per cent of which lies outside the City of Kingston and many millions of dollars of which lie within districts with libraries of their own to support. If $15,000 of school tax money is to be used in support of the Kingston City Library then it follows that the Board of Education should make a proportionate allotment to the Town of Hurley Library, the Town of Ulster Library and any other public libraries lying within the boundaries of the Consolidated School District. The proximity of the Kingston City Library to Kingston High School should not be used as justification for the proposed allocation of school tax money because each school in the district has its own library that is provided by school taxes.

If school funds raised by a levy upon the Consolidated School District are to be used in partial support of public libraries in Kingston, Hurley and Ulster then valid arguments may easily be found for assigning similar funds to the educational program of the Sparky Fire Department Classes, the Senate House Museum, the Girl and Boy Scouts and dozens of other fine programs designed to educate and aid in the growth of our young people.

School tax money is raised by a levy upon all of the property owners of the Consolidated School District for use in operating the schools of this district. I urge the Board of Education to see that all tax money is used only for the operation of the school system. To do otherwise would be to break faith with the taxpayers of the district.

Sincerely yours,

two propane gas tanks were released and some gas became involved.

Alarms for the downtown fire were sounded from Box 2131, Hasbrouck Avenue and Mill Street; 2141 Broadway and East Strand and 2121, East Union and Chambers. Chief Brett ordered another alarm for the latter at 4:14 p.m.

Other Calls

Other calls over the weekend were for brush fires and one in a shed.

A call at 9:15 p.m. Saturday was for two separate brush fires in an area off First Avenue near Devil's Lake.

One at 7:27 p.m. Sunday was for a fire in the woods in an area off First Avenue and Hooker Street. An alarm from Box 2521, First Avenue and Moore Street, was also sounded for that blaze.

A call at 11:06 p.m. Sunday was for a blaze in a small shed on a property on Clarendon Avenue owned by Alex Embree of Marbletown. It damaged a roof area and is of suspected incendiary origin.

Youth Reports

Arthur Ferraro, of Mt. Marion. Police said entrance was gained between noon Sunday and 6:45 a. m. today. A rear window was broken.

A broken window found this morning at the Ballard Oil Inc., 274 East Strand, indicated an attempted burglary there. A front door glass had been shattered by a rock which was found at the scene.

A report Saturday noted the theft of a television set from the home of Henrietta Barber, at 314 Clifton Avenue. Entrance was gained by the forcing of a front door. Police were also notified Saturday that three bottles of liquor had been taken from the home of Mrs. Charlotte Brutkowski, 211 Third Avenue. Entrance was gained through a window.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market failed to hold a small early gain and drifted unevenly this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The list gained a little in early trading as it followed through from Friday's sharp recovery drive. The business background was regarded as favorable but considerable hesitation was linked to the increasing involvement of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam.

Auto stocks backed away from early gains and were mixed, despite good reports from the industry. A slightly higher tone prevailed on balance among steels, tobaccos, electrical equipments and rails.

The big international oils were mostly unchanged. Drugs and aerospace issues headed lower irregularly. Chemicals, electronics and nonferrous metals were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 321.7 with industrials up .2, rails up .7 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 1.70 at 880.00.

American Photocopy was heavily traded as interest continued in it on the basis of its proposed joint venture with IBM on a business copying machine. "Apeco" was the most active stock Friday. IBM was ahead more than 5 points at the start but trimmed its gain to 3 or so.

BPW TARGET: NARCOTICS—Special committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Ulster County, an affiliate of National and International Federation of BPW clubs, met with officials of Kingston Police Department to discuss effect of narcotics problem on local area. Committee will recommend to local chapter a program urging cooperation of other clubs in Ulster County to help combat the problem in every county township. Programs calls for stricter legislation regarding narcotics traffic and more severe penalties for those convicted of dealing in such traffic. Committee also plans to meet Tuesday with District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca to discuss area problem, and urges the public to attend the program on "Crime and Narcotic Traffic in the Kingston Area" sponsored by American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, Chapter 151 at 7 p. m. Wednesday in Britts Community Room. On hand for special BPW committee meeting were (l-r) Lt. Lemuel Howard of Kingston Police Detective Division; Mrs. Anne Berk, Mrs. Dorothy Hayes; Mrs. Eleanor Wuest; Mrs. Reta H. Frederick and Charlotte McGraw. Officer Wilmot Hall of the Detective Division also participated in the program. (Freeman photo by Milton Wagonfohr)

Two Are Injured In Auto Accident Here on Weekend

Two persons were injured in one of two city traffic mishaps over the weekend.

Susano M. Rodriquez, 26, of 130 Hasbrouck Avenue, driver of a car which went off the road and crashed through two posts on South Wall near Brook Street early Sunday, told police he was forced off the road by another vehicle. No injuries were reported. Officers George Deyo and Louis Sapp investigated.

Mary E. Gross, 38, of 27 Russell Road, Hurley, driver of one of two cars in a mishap near 36 Henry Street reported injuries of the right arm, and Robert Gordon, 12, of Adams Court, Hurley, suffered a head injury. They were to be treated by doctors.

The other car, which was parked, was owned by Patricia Hayman, of 36 Henry Street. Officers Anthony Turck and Thomas Coffey investigated.

uated this year, but many young people who graduated in the past two or three years and who have not yet started college, and who should now reconsider their plans.

The Work Study Program students can work full time during the summer months and during vacations and up to 15 hours a week while classes are in session.

Robert Sharpe, coordinator of the Program, reported that as of this date, the college has identified about 45 full time positions for the summer which are unfilled and are awaiting qualified applicants.

"This new program at the college, therefore," he said, "can open the doors to a satisfying and exciting future for more of our young people. It is hoped that there will not be a student in our area who is qualified for college and who desires to attend that finds that he will be unable to do so for financial reasons."

Two Are Injured In Rt. 32 Crash Near Rosendale

Two men were injured, one critically, in a two-car collision on Route 32, north of Route 213, Rosendale, at about 11:50 p. m. Saturday.

Kingston Trooper Robert Mackey reported the cars were driven by Leroy Gordon, 33, of RD 4, Box 344B, Kingston, and Jon Rowe, 21, of Hurley. Gordon suffered a fractured left leg and unknown internal injuries. He was taken to Kingston Hospital and at 6 a. m. Sunday was transferred to Abany Medical Center by Doctor's ambulance.

The same ambulance service took Rowe to the Kingston Hospital. He was treated for lacerations of the head and released. Trooper John McMickle, summoned Rowe on a charge of driving at a speed not reasonable or prudent.

Trooper McMickle reported the cars were going in opposite directions on the highway when one vehicle skidded on wet pavement and the crash occurred.

Gordon was reported in critical condition, authorities said.

Infant Dies

traffic fatality in Ulster County this year.

Newburgh State Police reported Saturday that Bruce Roberts, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, North Arlington, N. J., drowned late that day when he fell in a privately owned pool in the Town of Newburgh.

Orange County Coroner Harvey Agnew, Newburgh, ruled the drowning accidental, according to State Police, who said the child wandered away from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coffin, Mill Street, Town of Newburgh, where his parents were visiting. The child, troopers reported, crossed the street and made his way to a neighbor's pool.

Recovered by Neighbor

The body was recovered by Donald Leuven, another neighbor.

A 41-year-old New Jersey woman was killed Saturday night in a flaming truck-car collision on the State Thruway, Town of Cornwall.

Mary E. Wilson, of Tenafly, N. J., died of a fractured skull and internal injuries, according to Orange County Coroner Harvey T. Agnew. She was Orange County's 30th fatality of 1965.

Troopers said the woman was a passenger in a car driven by Nathaniel McKinnon, 45, of Englewood, N. J., when the vehicle was in collision with a car operated by Paula Royce, 17, of High Falls. After the accident, Miss Wilson remained in the damaged car while McKinnon went for assistance.

Truck Hits Car

Meanwhile, a tractor-trailer owned by J. E. Fortin of St. John, Canada, hapepned along and crashed into the disabled McKinnon car. The impact hurled the woman to the pavement before both vehicles burst into flames.

Fire departments from Vail's Gate and other nearby communities extinguished the flames, but troopers said both vehicles were destroyed by the fire. A cargo of lettuce spilled from the trailer, and traffic on the Thruway was delayed several hours.

The truck was driven by Aime Tremblay, 24, of Quebec, Canada

He was summoned to appear before Justice of the Peace Vincent Muscarelli on July 12 on a charge of reckless driving, after pleading innocent. Tremblay pleaded guilty to a Labor Law violation, driving too many consecutive hours. He was fined $10 on that charge.

Trooper Overcome

During the height of the fire, Trooper Harvey Miller was overcome by smoke. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, and today his condition was described as satisfactory.

Elsewhere in the state, the Associated Press reported 18 persons died in highway accidents and four other children drowned.

Eighteen persons died in highway accidents and five children drowned.

There were two multiple-death automobile mishaps during the period, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Collision in Clyde

An automobile collision Saturday near Clyde in Wayne County killed John Carson, 72, of Lyons; Marcus Frison, 38, of East Williamson, and Joseph Smith of Williamson.

Other fatalities included:

Saturday

Jamestown — Martha Lydick, 22, Mercer, Pa., when the car she was in hit an embankment in nearby Frewburg.

Syracuse—Darwin Lalone, 21, Syracuse, car hit a guard rail on Route 81 near North Syracuse.

Syracuse—Mary Beth Carroll, 11, Brewerton, drowned in the Oneida River near Caughdenoy.

Elmira — Thomas J. Inman, Elmira, on the eve of his 16th birthday, drowned in a pond near his home where he had been swimming.

Sunday

Glens Falls — Dr. Orrin K. Camplin, Ithaca, when his car hit a guard rail on the Northway.

Millport — Mary DeHaas, 17, Millport, hit by two cars as she walked along Route 14.

St. Johnsville—Fletcher Cato Jr., 24, Gloversville, when the car he was in left Route 5 and hit two parked cars.

Buffalo — Dale Merriman, 2, Buffalo, presumed drowned after he disappeared from a cabin cruiser on the Niagara River.

Stone Ridge Woman Hurt in Car Mishap

Alice Reed, 24, of Route 1, Box 57, Stone Ridge, was injured at 1:35 a. m. Sunday, when her car was forced off Route 209 near Marbletown. She was taken to Kingston Hospital by the A. and A. Ambulance service and treated for shock.

Trooper W. E. Wiedemann reported the car was going north on the highway when an oncoming truck forced the driver to veer off the pavement.

Trooper Robert Mackey said the driver of the truck, Arthur Cacchillo, whose address was not listed, was charged with passing in a no passing zone.

GOP System

nomination for State Senator and sheriff were present and presented. They spoke briefly.

Kingston Attorney Frank Campochiaro, whose name had been mentioned by numerous friends, was introduced and announced that he would accept the nomination. He outlined his experience and qualifications.

Others who have announced their candidacy for State Senator were Lloyd A. Newcombe, Catskill business man, and Supervisor Joseph Martorana of Plattekill. Both spoke briefly on their campaign.

Presented as announced candidates for the office of surrogate were County Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., Louis Francello of Saugerties, Maurice Goldberg of Woodstock, Richard Overbagh of Saugerties and City Judge Joseph Saccoman. All spoke briefly.

When the candidates for Sheriff were called on, Col. Frank W. Harkin, who has been an announced candidate for the office of sheriff, stated that he has withdrawn from the race. Col. Harkin, commander of the 27th Armored Division Artillery, stated that he was leaving his present post and expected to be promoted to Brigadier General with the War department, taking part in the reorganization of the State National Guard.

Candidates for Sheriff

Six remaining candidates in the race for Republican nomination for sheriff were presented and spoke briefly. They are former Sheriff Howard Anderson, former Ulster County Sheriff's Jailer Carl Cline, County Identification Officer Earl Conro, Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Esopus Constable Joseph Ferraca and William A. Krum, a former Kingston police officer and FBI agent.

The meeting was presided over by County Chairman Kenneth L. Wilson.

No report was made by the committee of seven members of the Bar Association, named by Chairman Wilson to study the qualifications of the candidates for surrogate.

Port Ewen Fire Dept. to Be Host To Volunteers

Port Ewen Fire Department will be host to the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Tuesday night at the June meeting at 8 p. m.

Members of the county association are reminded by Secretary Fred C. Harder that in order to be eligible to attend the annual banquet held in conjunction with the annual convention, the members must be in good standing. The final date for making reservations for the banquet to be held at Highland is July 20.

The convention queen contest will be held at the Highland elementary school on the evening of June 30 at 8 o'clock and will be open to the public. At that time a queen to preside at the annual convention in Highland will be selected. There have been several entries thus far. President Domenik Costantino will report on the contest at the meeting Tuesday evening. Following selection of the Convention Queen on June 30 at Highland there will be dancing. A nominal fee will be charged.

Republicans Look

year," he said. "In local elections in such states as Iowa, for example, our candidates have been getting their traditional majorities even in areas we lost in 1964.

Looks to Farmers

"I think the administration's failure to come up with any workable farm program is going to help us in states where that is a factor."

This was in line with an assertion of Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., who expects to be a candidate for re-election, that the farmer, is the forgotten man of the Johnson administration. He said Sunday on Metromedia's televised "Opinion in the Capital" that Johnson is directing all of his programs toward the metropolitan areas.

Cities Favored

"Perhaps that is because, with the Electoral College, if you get the city votes you don't need any of the rest of them," he said. 'Perhaps, it is because of purely humanitarian reasons — I don't know what the reason, but it means all the goodies are being handed out to the people in the metropolitan areas and Mr. farmer continues to pay through the nose."

Outnumbered 68 to 32 by the Democrats in the Senate, Republicans have little hope of changing that figure materially. Twenty Democratic and 14 Republican seats are at stake next year.

Even if the GOP retrieved the total of 41 House places it lost last year, the party would still be outnumbered substantially, since the Democrats now have 294 members to the Republicans' 140, with one vacancy.

Congress May

the Senate Finance Committee.

The administration's bill to broaden application of the minimum-wage law is in the hearing stage in the House Labor Committee.

A package measure embodying President Johnson's anti-poverty program is gathering dust in the House Rules Committee along with a general housing bill that may be sent to the House floor later this week.

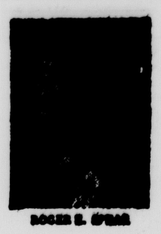

Pay raises for military and civilian personnel are in the hearing stage in the House Armed Services and Civil Service committees.

State legislature reapportionment measures stemming from the Supreme Court's one man-one vote ruling are progressing slowly in the Senate and House Judiciary committees.

Advice for Investor Who Can Assume Risk

Q) "I should like a stock with the following characteristics: speculatative in nature with good short-and-long-term prospects. Price range and dividends are far less important than prospective earnings rise. I am well covered financially and am perfectly ready to take a measured risk. What is your opinion of Data Control, which has been recommended for my objective?" — J. S.

A) Please let me speak of Data Control first. This is a good company which has shown strong earnings growth in recent years. The stock had a big rise in 1964 to 35¼, based on expectation of a large gain in net which was realized. It has since declined to very near this year's low of 18. Because the company's main business is telemetry — the tracking and monitoring of satellites — it is dependent largely on government expenditures, an uncertain source of revenue. I do not recommend it.

I believe the better discount merchandisers—speculative only in the sense that they are relatively new — are most attractive in this market. I recommend King's Department Stores which sells for around ten-times my earnings estimate for fiscal 1965.

Q) "For some time I have been interested in tax-free municipal bonds. Can you give me the names of one or two good tax-exempt bonds? Also, the names of some common stocks which are tax-free?" E. M.

A) Gladly. As a very high grade, AAA rated tax-exempt, I recommend State of New Jersey 2.90s of 1986 to yield 3.10 per cent. Of equal security, I suggest Cook County Public Housing Authority 3¼s (when issued) of 1990, to yield 3.15 per cent, also rated AAA. These bonds are issued under contract with the Public Housing Administration, an agency of the U. S. Government.

A partial list of stocks with dividends free in whole or in part in 1964 would include Consolidated Edison, 78 per cent; Puget Sound Power & Light, 100 per cent; Transamerica Corporation, 100 per cent. These percentages vary from year to year.

were rushed to the airfield at Phuoc Vinh after the Viet Cong ambushed a Vietnamese paratroop battalion Saturday night. The airfield, 40 miles north of Saigon, is the main supply point for the Phuoc Binh-Thanh special military zone.

The Vietnamese battalion was attacked as it moved into Thuan Loi village, 4 miles north of Dong Xoai. The Viet Cong struck from the north and west, sealing off the government paratroopers from the rear.

Reports from the area said 250 of the battalion's 400 men were killed, wounded or captured. This brought the number of Vietnamese dead or missing in the fighting around Dong Xoai since Thursday to about 600. Eighteen Americans were listed as dead or missing.

Claims 300 Cong

Vietnamese government forces claimed they killed 300 Viet Cong in the fighting Thursday for Dong Xoai and that U.S. air strikes killed another 400. The figures were not confirmed by U.S. military sources.

A relief force entered Thuan Loi Sunday and found the town empty. Both Viet Cong and government dead had been hauled away, and there were no civilians.

A U.S. helicopter made a midnight flight through enemy fire and rain to fly three U.S. advisers out of Thuan Loi during the fighting.

Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, visited Dong Xoai Sunday and conferred with Vietnamese Brig Gen. Cao Van Vien.

South Viet Nam's general staff announced by radio it had formed a 10-member committee under the chairmanship of Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu to set up a new government and organizations "along with a war cabinet."

The 10 members include army corps commanders, chief of general staff and air force commander Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky.

In effect, Thieu thus becomes chief of state, although civilian Phan Khac Suu remains for the time being as caretaker chief of state with Premier Phan Huy Quat. Thieu was defense minister in the Quat government.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor returned to Saigon from conferences in Washington with President Johnson and other top officials.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Sahstri of India, who wound up a state visit to Canada today, told the Toronto Globe and Mail that commitment of U.S. troops into combat in Viet Nam "might lead to dangerous consequences".

He said that India and Canada see "more or less eye to eye" on Viet Nam and both countries feel that talks might be possible between the warring factions. India and Canada are members with Poland of the International Control Commission that oversees operation of the 1954 Geneva agreement on Indochina.

In a joint communique Shastri and Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson took neither side of the Viet Nam conflict. They "expressed their regret that lack of respect for the cease-fire agreement...had led to the present higher level of hostilities," and said "they were convinced that a purely military solution was neither practicable nor desirable."

African and Asian leaders gathering in London for a conference of Commonwealth prime ministers want a clear-cut declaration disassociating the Commonwealth from U.S. action in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republica, informants reported.

Telephone Co.

For business customers the increase would range from 25 cents a month for a rural line to $2 a month for a private branch exchange trunk line.

The proposed change would not affect monthly High Falls rates.

Eliminated under the plan would be the present 15 cent charge for a three-minute call and any overtime charges for longer calls.

A cool week is indicated, with rainfall generally quite sparse. Quite cool at beginning. Some warming towards end of week. Night time lows averaging mainly in the 40s or low 50s, gradually moderating late in the week. Some 30s one or two nights in colder mountain areas at beginning. Day time highs generally in the mid 50s to mid 60s at beginning will rise to mid 60s and 70s by latter half of the week. A few light showers at beginning, with better chance of showers near the end of the week.

Strong Reviews Type of Growth In Valley Areas

Forty-five Mid-H dson architects and professional consulting engineers recently heard that "as we attempt to create and provide a better environment, we must consider how best to meet human wants as distinguished from basic human needs."

The speaker was Edwin T. Strong, vice-president of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, who reviewed the type of growth and change which is occuring in the Mid-Hudson region and outlined the vital role of the architect and professional engineer in "testing new ideas and concepts resulting from the great technological advances of recent years."

The utility executive was one of two speakers at the dinner meeting held in Rifton. Fred Nicholas, president of Nicholas-Cowley Associates, Inc. spoke about What Happens to the B.T.U.? and discussed trends in the use of different forms of energy for commercial and industrial construction

During his remarks, Strong said, "The hallmark of our society has been the continual upgrading of our tastes, our ambitions and our expectations. As a people, we have more personal mobility, more education, more income and more leisure time."

He pointed out that "the country is in the midst of an energy revolution, and that many new applications of electrical power are now available to architects who, to a large measure, will be responsible for fashioning our future environment."

He continued by saying that just as architects are aware of their responsibilities in shaping the future, Central Hudson is mindful of its obligation to meet the needs of future generations. Strong noted that the company is presently embarked on the largest construction program in its history and has followed a program designed to improve efficiencies in every area of operations.

He also cited a series of electric and gas rate reductions as a specific example of how the utility has passed the benefits of increased sales and efficiencies on to the customer.

Two Men Injured In Auto Mishap Near Ellenville

Two men were injured and a motorist was charged with driving a motor vehicle at a speed not reasonable or prudent, as the result of a collision which occurred at 9:15 p .m. Sunday on Route 209 about 1500 feet north of Ellenville.

State Police BCI Investigator Charles Teelon said the cars were operated by Elmer Avery, 63, of 20 North Main Street, Ellenville, and Samuel Rose Jr., 35, of Accord. Avery was treated at the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, for lacerations of the head. Rose was treated at the hospital for lacerations of the right leg.

Troopers reported Avery was pulling from a driveway to turn south on Route 209 and Rose was traveling south when the cars collided. Avery's car continued on and struck a tree, and Rose's vehicle went off the left side of the highway and crashed into a concrete wall.

Gets 30 Days in Jail For Theft of Truck

Accused of the theft of a 1949 pickup truck, Steven Poirier, 19, of Napanoch, was arrested early today by Ellenville State Troopers James Kelly and Robert Larson on a charge of petty larceny.

He pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel and was sentenced to 30 days in the Ulster County jail, according to BCI Investigator Charles Teelon.

Teelon said troopers received the call reporting the theft from the owner of the truck, Clarence Wright of Napanoch, and a trooper was noting the complaint when he spied the truck passing the state trooper's barracks. Kelly and Larson gave chase and overtook the vehicle. Poirier abandoned the truck and fled on foot, but was taken into custody later on Route 209.

Partial Lunar Eclipse Took Place Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — A partial lunar eclipse took place Sunday night.

The earth's shadow across the moon was at its maximum at 9:49 p.m. (EST). The eclipse was a minor one, with only 18 per cent of the moon's disk covered by the umbra, the densest portion of the shadow.

The passage of the umbra lasted 102 minutes.

Africa and Asia Nations Oppose U. S. in Viet Nam

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of British Commonwealth countries in Africa and Asia want the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London this week to disassociate the group from U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

African leaders are also seeking a showdown with Britain's Labor government on continued white rule in Rhodesia. They make no secret of their disappointment that the Laborites haven't taken stronger measures to bring democracy to Rhodesia.

Although 14 of the 21 Commonwealth members are feuding or fighting among themselves or with other countries, the basic issues before the conference opening Thursday are Rhodesia and the support which the British, Australian and New Zealand governments are giving the United States in Viet Nam.

Twelve of the 21 delegates are reported demanding a strong conference statement making clear that the Commonwealth as a whole does not back the U.S. policy.

Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia told newsmen on his arrival that the people of Viet Nam should solve their own problems, a clear implication that U.S. troops should get out. Of the U.S. role in Viet Nam, he said, "We are unhappy about that."

British sources indicated that Prime Minister Harold Wilson will try to head off the storm over Southeast Asia by citing his efforts to bring the Viet Nam conflict to the conference table.

Physician Reports Liver Test Success

BOSTON (AP) — A 34-year-old Boston woman whose liver is being periodically rested while her blood is circulated through a pig's liver is "unquestionably better," her doctor said today.

"The biochemical tests reflect said Dr. William V. McDermott. "Her liver, which had been very enlarged and tender, is improved."

Dr. McDermott headed a team of 12 doctors and technicians at City Hospital who twice over the weekend attached pigs' livers to the woman's circulatory system.

Blood from an artery in the woman's arm is passed through the pig's liver and back to the patient by means of a pump similar to those used in heart operations.

Dr. McDermott said the woman probably would have died without the procedure.

O'Connor Reports Job Appeal Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor says about 250,000 young people are getting summer work because of the federal government's appeal to the business community.

Bags of mail and telegrams have been pouring in since Connor's "open letter to employers" asking cooperation in the administration's youth opportunity campaign.

Spiritual, Moral Lag Blamed by King in Address

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says that a poverty of the spirit exists in the midst of scientific and technological advances.

King, addressing about 5,000 graduates and guests Sunday at Hofstra University's commencement, said, "If we are to survive, our spiritual and moral lag must be eliminated."

King received an honorary doctor of divinity degree.

Wins Top Honors

BADEN - BADEN, Germany (AP) — Peggy March, 17-year-old brunette from Lansdale, Pa., won top honors at the 5th German song festival Sunday.

Miss March sang in German "You Still Dream at 17," the only slow number on the program. The audience broke into prolonged applause.
